M'CHESNEY ON STAND PRAISES CHIEF KIELY

President of Terminals Says Kiely Always Did Everything Asked of Him.

DEMURRER OVERRULED

Maroney Testifies That Chief Said Sergeant Was "Woman Chaser."

SURPRISE FROM WOMAN

Witness Says She Notified Chief of Conduct of Man Discharged Later.

The first witness for the defense in the trial of suspended Chief of Police Kiely before the Police Board was W. S. McChesney, Jr., president and general manager of the Terminal Railroad Association. He was put on the witness stand by Attorney Saunders at the opening of the afternoon session.

Hhe testified to his good opinion of Kiely's ability and character. He said that he had always though Sergeant Rea a good officer. The witness was the first of a long string of character witnesses.

In answer to questions of Saunders he said that he had frequent conferences with Kiely before the World's Fair, but that he had not seen him very often since then. He said that he had seen Sergeant Rea at the Union Station for several years and always thought him a perfect gentleman, and a good o cer who discharged his duty faithfully.

McChesney said that during the World's Fair the Terminal Association had handled one and a half million people in Union Station and that the police record there had been almost perfect, there being practically no complaints. Here the witness made the remark that, in his opinion, Rea was a disciplinarian.

Prosecutor Williams objected to this remark of the witness on the ground that witness was not in a position to judge, and it was stricken out of the testimony.

Kiely's Fair Plans.

McChesney said that just prior to the World's Fair he had sent for Kiely and had a conference concerning the manner in which the police were going to handle the crowds in Union Station. Witness said that Chief Kiely expressed his intention of sending for detectives from other cities to look out for criminals who would come to St. Louis during the Fair, and that he (the witness) furnished transportation for these detectives.

McChesney ended his direct testimony by saying that he was willing to trust his life and property to Kiely. Prosecutor Williams then took the witness for the cross-examination.

"Did Kiely ever fail to respond to the slightest request of the Terminal Association?"

"I cannot recall that he ever did."

"Isn't it then a fact that this willingness to comply with every request was responsible for the good opinion you have of him?"

"In a measure."

"Did you ever furnish Kiely with transportation?"

"On one occasion I furnished transportation to Chief Kiely and Chief Desmond. They were going to some convention about two years ago."

"Did Kiely ever request any other transportation?"

"I am not sure that he did not."

STEPMOTHER IS TOO LOVING

Wife Sues for Divorce and Says Husband Was Jealous of His Children.

Mrs. Charlotte McGinn has filed suit in the Circuit Court for a divorce from her husband, William McGinn, and in her petition she discloses herself as a loving stepmother.

On April 16, 1906, the two were married and went to live at 2814 Bernard street. McGinn had three daughters, 9, 10 and 6 years old, and they took a liking to their new mamma. Before the marriage Mrs. McGinn alleges that Mr. McGinn seemed very much alarmed for fear that the child would not be suited with their new mother. After the children and their stepmother had become fast friends and were more than happy in each other's company, the father, it is alleged, became jealous and started to treat wife and children cruelly. Mrs. McGinn says that he also did all in his power to influence the children's minds against her, but to no avail.

August 30 the couple separated, Mr. McGinn putting the two oldest girls in the Sacred Heart Convent and taking the youngest to a home of a friend, to an address that Mrs. McGinn says that she does not know.

When they were married, Mrs. McGinn had quite a sum of money and she proudly states that she still has it. The grounds on which Mrs. McGinn will endeavor to get a divorce is the jealousy of her husband when his children began to like her.

COACH FOR THE INSANE.

Patients in City Asylum Will Take Rides in Park.

Within a few months municipal coaching parties for mad men and women will be given in St. Louis. The inmates of the City Insane Asylum will be the guests. The city is now asking for bids for the coach and all the leading carriage manufacturers have taken out specifications for the work and will prepare bids, which will be opened next Thursday.

"The coach will be an attractive vehicle," says Supt. Atkins of the insane asylum. "It will be painted a simple black, with no lettering on it to indicate its character. It will be drawn by two horses and will be cushioned in buff automobile leather. In this vehicle quiet patients of the institution will be taken driving through the parks and to such entertainments as races, athletic events, etc., at which they are usually admitted free. Only such patients as never become violent will be taken out. The drives will be in the afternoons and evenings. The coach will seat 10 passengers and the eligible patients will be given turns in the outings."

The plans in the office of the Supply Commissioner show that the vehicle will much resemble the city ambulances. The sides, however, will be closed by plate glass windows in sashes that can be dropped down, as in street cars.

INVITED BY THREE BANKS.

Eight Concerns Voted Against Holding Convention Here.

An interesting feature in connection with the annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association is the difference of opinion that prevails among bankers as to the wisdom of holding the convention here in October.

A meeting of members of all the clearing house banks was held some time ago to vote on the proposition of asking the association to hold its meeting in St. Louis. Out of eleven banks represented only three voted for, and eight against the proposition.

The three banks favoring the holding of the meeting here then extended an invitation on their own account, which the American Bankers' Association accepted. Later some of the local trust companies joined in the invitation.

William H. Thompson, cashier of the Boatmen's Bank, who attended the conference of bankers at the clearing house, stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he could not give the names of the three banks who had voted for and extended the invitation to the association after the proposition had been voted against. All the expenses of the coming convention will be borne by the three banks which extended the invitation.

BEEF FIVE TIMES HIGHER.

Prices City Pays Possibly Reflect Trust Agitation.

A remarkable increase in the price of meat for the city institutions is shown by a comparison of the prices bid at the letting by Supply Commissioner Boyce this week with the prices bid for the same supplies before the Beef Trust was formed.

The following table gives the scale of prices back for 26 years and shows the increase at a glance. The prices are for 100 pounds.

	Last letting	Prev letting	1900	1896	1880
Beef	$10.58	$ 9.97	$ 6.60	$ 2.85	$ 4.95
Pork	10.00	9.75	11.00	9.90	6.00
Mutton	8.90	8.98	11.00	9.85	6.00
Veal	9.95	8.98	13.00	9.90	6.00
River fish	9.00	9.00	.....	.....	6.00
Lake fish	10.00	.....	14.60	12.00	10.00

The figures show that the price of beef has almost been multiplied by five since 1896. The fact that the price of lake fish has been nearly constant during the entire period covered by the figures shows that the increase in the price of beef was due to some cause other than transportation or accidental circumstances.

An interesting inference is drawn from the lower prices obtained at the previous letting, which was for the period beginning July 20 and ending Sept. 20. This letting was held in the thick of the crusade conducted against the meat trust by Upton Sinclair and the Federal Government, and it is believed the reduced price was due in some way to the public agitation at that time.

WOMEN'S CLAMBAKE.

Real Beer and Masculine Sport Without Men.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 14.—Springfield society women will have a clambake at Riverside Grove tomorrow afternoon. The bake will be served under the trees the same as the men's bakes and will have every accompaniment of a man's bake, except not a man will be permitted on the grounds. Mrs. A. J. Hucker is chairman of the general committee. Tickets have been limited to 200 and every ticket is sold.

Besides the sea food, there will be real beer on draft and in bottles. The program of sports includes a three-legged race, a baseball game and a football contest.

Masculine intrusion will be guarded against by a picket line of robust women, armed with sticks having pointed ends. If any luckless men or boys are captured they will be ridden about the grove in a fruit peddler's cart.

GIRLS SAY CAR SMOKER PUSHED THEM OFF STEP

They Had Complained to Conductor of Smoke Blown in Their Faces.

OFFENSE WAS REPEATED

They Say They Had Been Disturbed on Way Home From Work.

BOTH ARE BADLY BRUISED

Crowd of Girls Surround Alleged Assailant Until Police Came.

Miss Julia Cyganowski, aged 19 years, of 1910 O'Fallon street was unable to appear at Four Courts Friday morning against George Galati, whom she and Miss Anna Marchlewski, aged 18, of 1406 North Twentieth street accuse of pushing them from a street car. Thursday night. Miss Cyganowski's injuries in the fall from the car prevented her appearance and will probably keep her in bed for several days. She has a deep gash on her jaw and a sprained arm, besides internal injuries.

Miss Cyganowski was unconscious for some time after being taken home, Thursday night, and is not yet able to give a coherent account of what took place on the street car, but Miss Marchlewski, who was cut on the head and the left cheek, told the incidents in detail to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday.

A warrant has been issued charging Galati with assault and battery.

"The trouble Thursday night," said she, "was the climax of a lot of indignities that the girls who work in the Catlin tobacco plant at Park avenue and Lawrence street have had to endure for some time when they were going home at night. A dozen or more of us take the Park avenue car and transfer to the Eighteenth street car at Clark avenue. They have been doing some work on the tracks and the laborers have bothered us a great deal. They go home at the same time we do."

Girl Shook Galati.

"Wednesday night Miss Cyganowski and myself were seated in the fourth seat from the front, homeward bound, about 6 o'clock. Two men, this man Galati and another, were seated in front of us. Galati was smoking a cigarette and the other man a pipe. We complained to the conductor and he told them to stop smoking or go to the rear of the car. The man with the pipe emptied it and put it in his pocket, but the other one kept on smoking, although the conductor did not know it.

Blew Smoke in Her Face.

"Thursday night we were going home on another car and sitting near the front and Galati got on. We heard him tell the conductor that we were two girls who had 'kicked' on his smoking the night before. He sat directly in front of us again and began smoking a cigarette.

"I was reading a book. When the conductor collected my fare I complained, and he told the man he must stop smoking. The man put his hand out of the window as though throwing the cigarette away, and then took it in again after the conductor had gone by. He continued smoking, and presently turned around and blew the smoke directly in my face.

"We rose and walked to the front platform as we neared Clark avenue to transfer. The man got up and walked after us. As the car slowed up, Miss Cyganowski was standing in front of me waiting to step down, when Galati struck me so hard on the back that I fell against my friend, and we both tumbled onto the street."

G. J. Steffani, agent of a news company at 212 South Eighteenth street, saw one of the girls fall from the car. He saw the conductor pick her up and C. A. Sharp, another news agent at 216 South Eighteenth street, brought a chair, on which she sat until an ambulance came.

There were not many men on the car, he says, and they made no demonstration, but many of the girls who had been on the car gathered around Galati in a threatening manner and jostled him and suggested that he ought to be hanged. Steffani saw one big black-haired girl seize Galati and give him a good shaking, at the same time telling him what she thought of him.

The girls stood closely about him and prevented him from making an attempt to get away until a policeman came and arrested him.

Before the policeman came a crowd of 100 had gathered about the man, but except for the disapproval expressed by the girls by word and act, there was no attempt made to injure him.

CHECK OFF ANOTHER KING.

Francis Has Given Frederick of Denmark His Medal.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 14.—David R. Francis and L. D. Dozier, one of the members of the deputation, sent abroad to inspect the various exhibits of Europe the gold medals and diploma of the exposition, were received in audience by King Frederick this morning.

The king heartily thanked Mr. Francis and Mr. Dozier for the medal and the diploma, and expressed his admiration of the progress made by the United States. He accompanied his remarks with several complimentary references to President Roosevelt.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Missouri—Showers Friday night; warmer in north portion; Saturday, showers; warmer in east portion.

Iowa—Partly cloudy and warmer Friday night; showers in west portion; Saturday, showers, with warmer in east portion.

Illinois—Fair Friday night; Saturday, partly cloudy and warmer.

Little Girl Travels Alone.

Traveling all the way from Baldwin, Io., to Smackover, Ark., alone, Stella McLouth, 10 years old, arrived in St. Louis Friday morning with a tag on her dress telling her destination. The early morning train upon which she was to proceed to Smackover had departed when she arrived and the child had to remain here until Friday afternoon. Mrs. Hunter, the station matron took charge of the girl and placed her on her right train. The little child is the daughter of L. W. McLouth of Smackover and has been living with her aunt, Mrs. Hannah Hale, in Iowa since her mother died, five years ago.

GIRLS PUSHED OFF CAR FOR COMPLAINING ABOUT SMOKER, MAN THEY ACCUSE AND SCENE ON CAR

SPECTATORS DUCKED AT SWIMMING RACE

Fifty Fell in Laughlin's Lake During Laughable Canoe Contest.

PLATFORM GAVE WAY

Those Who Could Clung to Boards and the Others Swam Ashore.

Fifty spectators of the swimming races and water polo game at Laughlin's Lake were thrown into the water Thursday afternoon after the contests were over by the breaking down of a platform intended for the use of the contestants, judges and referees. The water into which they were precipitated was 12 or 15 feet deep and while many saved themselves by clinging to the wreck of the platform, others, fully dressed, had to swim ashore and and then dry their garments as best they could.

The platform was not substantially constructed, as it was intended to support only 15 or 20 persons at one time. It was perhaps 50 feet long and 6 feet wide and was constructed along the shore.

During the races and contests great difficulty was encountered in keeping the platform free from spectators. When they were not watched those anxious for good views of the races would step out on the platform and stay there until they were shooed off. The platform was only a few inches above the water, but it afforded a good view of the games and sports.

After the swimming races and water polo game had been concluded the swimmers volunteered to enter a tilting contest in canoes. Tilting in canoes means taking a long pole with an air bladder at the end and having one man to paddle the canoe and one to push or tilt, with an opponent similarly equipped. The canoe being a volatile vehicle, is easy to upset. Hence the tilt usually ends with a ludicrous upset.

Platform Was Crowded.

The tilting provoked much applause and interest and as it was not regularly on the program the platform was soon crowded with spectators, no one caring particularly whether they were on the platform or not.

Suddenly there was a snapping and a creaking and about 25 feet of the platform gave way. It did not suddenly out as the nails were drawn one side of the platform settled into the water and 50 or 60 spectators, vainly struggling to maintain their footing, were dropped into the water.

There were no screams and no shouts. Those in the water seemed to take the affair as a matter of course and those who were unable to grab hold of the platform and keep a portion of their bodies out of the water struck out swimming for the shore.

Hundreds on the shore, after seeing that there was no serious danger, laughed heartily at the predicament of those in the water.

Apparently every man in the water could swim and there were no heroic rescues. Few of those who were in the water were so far from the shore that they could not reach safety by a few strokes. Those on the portion of the platform which did not break scampered for the shore.

It was a droll sight to see elegantly dressed men swimming out of the wet. Messrs. Albert Bond Lambert and Stuart Stickney, the noted golfers, were among those immersed. Mr. Stickney swam ashore, his new Peter Pan hat bejween his teeth, while Mr. Lambert paddled nobly, his pearl-gray gloves shining in the water.

Cap Was Rescued.

After all those who had been ducked had reached the shore, a cap was seen floating in the lake. One man swam after it and then a search was begun for its owner. He was not found and it was believed that he had sank. Divers began efforts to save the man or to find his body, if he were drowned.

Every bit of the bottom of the lake near the scene of the accident was searched. Divers even went under the portion of the platform that was still standing as well as under the boards that were submerged, but no body was found.

It was then learned that the cap belonged to a youth named Schwartz, a member of the family of swimmers. When he was thrown into the water he decided that his clothing could get no wetter than it was, so he paddled out into the middle of the lake to take part in the canoe-tilting. When he finally came ashore the excitement subsided.

Scorekeeper Sonked.

Harry B. Little, doorkeeper at the M. A. C., was hoisting scores on the bulletin board on Fair Island. When he got ready to go home a canoe was the only vehicle at his disposal.

"You can manage it?" asked Randolph Laughlin.

"Guess so," said Little as he leapt aboard.

He never knew what struck him. The canoe bucked, kicked and threw him 30 feet to the bottom of the lake. There were a lot of wet clothes in St. Louis last night.

While it was struggling to right his canoe he struck another similar craft and capsized it, throwing its occupant into the water with him.

Those who were ducked dried their clothes as well as they could, but many of the wrenched home in garments that were still wet.

WARMER AND RAIN SATURDAY

The reminder of fall has for the present passed, according to the weather man and warmer weather is ahead. The official forecast:

"Increasing cloudiness and warmer; showers late Friday night or Saturday; fresh and brisk southerly winds."

The temperature early Friday went down to 56, which was just where the forecaster said it would go. The cool wave is advancing southerly and easterly, and has penetrated the Gulf States and the Atlantic Coast States. Frost was noted Thursday night in Northwest Minnesota. Rain has fallen in the past 24 hours in the Northwest.

WARNS CARTER TO BE MORE CAREFUL

Action of Supervisor of Lighting on Telephone Poles Condemned by Committee.

A severe censure was administered to Thomas B. Carter, Supervisor of City Lighting, at the Board of Public Improvements' meeting Friday morning, as a result of the complaint of the Kinloch Telephone Co. that it is being discriminated against in favor of the Bell Telephone Co.

The report of the special committee which considered the question says the committee finds there was vigorous remonstrance by property owners to the request of the Kinloch Telephone Co. for permission to erect poles on Lee avenue, between Fair avenue and the alley east of Clarence avenue; that the Kinloch request was reported to the Board of Public Improvements, as required by the municipal code, but that the subsequent request by the Bell people for similar permission was not so reported, yet the Kinloch request was turned down and that of the Bell granted.

The committee recommends that the board rescind its approval of that part of the report which granted the desired privilege to the Bell company, declaring that the granting was not according to the municipal code, which directs that poles shall be along alleys and not streets.

The report closes with the recommendation that the Bell Telephone Co. be directed to remove any poles erected under the permits referred to, and that the Supervisor of City Lighting be cautioned to use greater care and not issue a permit to any company to occupy a street when the board is by law required to determine on the practicability of placing the poles in an alley.

WOMAN ARRESTED ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Alton Glass Blower's Wife Says She Thought First Husband Was Dead.

HE CAUSES THE ARREST

Mrs. Newsom Tells Police Divorce Was Agreed On When Man Appeared.

On complaint of Henry Rickey of Carrollton, Ill., who said he was her lawful husband, Mrs. Cora Newsom, wife of a glassblower, living at 417 Shields street, Alton, was arrested Friday on a charge of bigamy.

Mrs. Newsom, who is now 22 years old, admitted that she had married Rickey when she was 16 years old, but said she thought he was dead at the time she married Newsom, a year and a half ago.

"I lived with Rickey five years," she said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "We then had trouble and separated. I went to East St. Louis to live with my sister. A few years after our separation I received a letter stating that my husband had died of catarrh, and I also read in a Roodhouse newspaper that a man of the same name had died there. Thinking that I was a widow, I married Newsom. Some time after my marriage, I was greatly surprised by answering a call at the door and finding my former husband standing before me. I fainted, and was sick for several days.

"We finally agreed that he should get a divorce, and I gave him $15 to pay half the expense. I do not know why he failed to keep his agreement."

Mrs. Newsom exhibited the receipt for $15 to the Alton police. Rickey wrote to the Alton Chief of Police, charging her with bigamy. She will be held in the detention room until Rickey is heard from. Rickey, who is now 40 years old, was notified of the arrest.

There is one child, now 6 years old, living with the father at Carrollton.

WAS STRUCK BY TRAIN.

Man Picked Up Near Tracks Can Tell Little of Himself.

Patrick H. Osbourne, who was found by a section crew near Cliff Cave, on the Iron Mountain Railroad tracks, is still in a very serious condition. Besides the loss of several fingers and severe bruises on the body, his back is badly injured. When found he was lying in a weed patch, partly in water, and when he arrived at the Jefferson Barracks hospital his feet were swollen as a result of the long time in the water. He was worse Friday.

When seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter he was almost too weak to talk, but managed to say that he was a machinist and had worked last at 639 South Seventh street. He said that he also lived there. He has six children living in St. Louis, but could remember none of their addresses. He could not tell where he was going when struck by the train. When found he had a small hand bag containing tools such as sewing machine repairers carry.

The Seventh street address he gave is now a vacant house and none of those residing near knew the man.

CONQUERING COW CAPTURED

Misses Fannie and Louise Dayball of Arloe Station visited the Prosecuting Attorney's office Thursday afternoon to wreak some sort of vengeance on a neighboring swain whose face had a short time before been slapped by their sister, Miss Abbie Dayball. They were informed that the case was not within the jurisdiction of the prosecutor.

It was all over two cows. The neighbor's cow locked horns figuratively and literally with the Dayball brindle and when time was called the latter animal had no horns to lock. So Mrs. Dayball, mother of the complaining sisters, tied up the other cow and refused to let its owner have it.

A Humane Society official was appealed to and decided the belligerent animal was in good hands with the Dayballs. Then the owner appeared, untied his cow and took her home. The Dayballs say he used most emphatic language. Miss Abbie slapped his face. Then followed the visit to the prosecutor. Miss Abbie declares the youth missed a sound thrashing when neighbors interfered.

PALMA NOTIFIES U. S. THAT REBELS WILL SURRENDER

Insurgent Leaders Offer to Lay Down Their Arms to Commander of the Denver If Guaranteed Fair Trial—Terms Are Cabled to Washington.

PRESIDENT GETS DATA ON AVAILABLE WARSHIPS

Government Officials Assemble at Oyster Bay to Discuss Situation in Cuba—Preparations for Immediate Intervention Admitted to Be Under Way.

Rebel Leader Orders Fighting Stopped Pending Negotiations

HAVANA, Sept. 14.—The emissaries sent to Havana today by Alfredo Zayas, the liberal leader informed the Associated Press that Zayas has telegraphed to the insurgent commander of every province to cease fighting, because negotiations are pending for surrender to the American naval commander.

HAVANA, Sept. 14.—The insurgent leaders, represented by Felipe Romero, this afternoon notified the commandr of the Unietd States cruiser Denver that they are ready to march into Havana and surrender to the naval officer on condition that hey be given fair judicial trials.

Commander Colewll replied that he could not interfere in the situation at present, but reported the occurrence to President Palma and suggested that he would be glad to act if the Washington GoGvernment so ordered. President Palma communicated immediately with Washington, but has received no reply.

CABINET MEETING CALLED BY ROOSEVELT.

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 14.—What is practically a meting of the Cabinet was called at Oyster Bay by the President today to discuss the situation in Cuba. Indications point to intervention by the United States. It is admitted that the army and navy will be thoroughly prepared within a few hours to take any steps conditions may demand.

Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte arrived on the 10:11 train and went into conference with the President immediately. Assistant Secretary of State Bacon arrived shortly afterward in an automobile, and Secretary of War Taft will reach Oyster Bay some time during the afternoon.

"It is desirable for the President to know the exact number of naval vessels that are available at present," said Secreary Bonaparte. "Press reports indicate that the situation in Cuba is serious. I believe the Americans who have money invested there would like to have the United States intervene."

Senator Beveridge of Indiana, a member of the Senate Committee on Cuban Relations, will be a guest of President Roosevelt today and he may take part in the conference.

It is understood that Postmaster-General Cortelyou, who is spending the summer at Huntington Lodge, near Sagamore Hill, will also be present.

The United States marines who were landed in Havana last night from the armored cruiser Denver were withdrawn from the city this morning on orders from the State Department. Dispatches from Commander Colwell say the city is quiet at present and that he can land another detachment of men in 10 minutes' time if necessary.

It was announced at the executive office today that the landing of marines in Havana yesterday was intended only as a guard to the American legation in that city and not as a step toward restoring peace in the island republic or as a guard to President Palma's palace.

While it is maintained that the course of the American administration in Cuba is to be most conservative, this, it is said, does not preclude a thorough preparedness of the United States to take any action which may become imperative by reason of conditions on the island.

A dispatch from American Charge d'Affaires Sleeper at Havana says it is reported that 300 insurgents attacked the rural guards at Zaza (Santa Clara Province) and that the Government lost 18 men. The loss of the insurgents is not known. The Government forces retreated to Sancti Spiritus.

Mr. Sleeper adds that a rumor is current of an uprising in Camaguay. The postal service between Santiago and Havana is interrupted. Mr. Sleeper's report is based on a telegram received from the American consul at Santiago, on the afternoon of Sept. 13.

Another dispatch confirms the reports of the destruction of sugar plantations near Cienfuegos and of the destruction of railroad bridges and buildings.

It also states that no traffic is going on on the Cuban Central, Western or United Cuban railways.

The Governor of Santa Clara Province has reported that Santa Clara is threatened by the rebels.

The Navy Department has not yet been informed of the arrival of the Marietta at Cienfuegos.

REBELS' ADDRESS TO AMERICAN PEOPLE.

INSURGENT CAMP, Santa Clara Province, Sept. 11 (Via Havana, Sept. 14).—The Post-Dispatch correspondent with the insurgents in Santa Clara province has received by courier from Gen. Guzman the following:

"Headquarters in the Field, Central Andrieta Plantation, near Cruces, Santa Clara Province, Sept. 11.—To the American people: Difficulties have arisen among us—questions of liberty and law, or of peace. We do not ask for sympathy; we ask only an open field, that we may settle with Cubans and for Cubans the issues that we have joined.

"There has come a time in the history of this republic when the only way to secure a permanent and righteous peace, safe and guaranteed constitutional liberty is by war. Under the empty name of a republic, the shackles of the overthrown Spanish dominion have again been imposed upon us. Our Constitution has been cast aside with contemptuous egotism, the royal laws of the ancient regime have been revived, and issued to us with the very forms and words of the royal Spanish decree. Absolutism was again fastening itself upon Cuba, and in the more dangerous guise of formulas of a Republican system that was but the shell of democratic ideals.

"It has become necessary to resort to arms—not for war if it can possibly be avoided, but as a demonstration before the court of last resort that the spirit that for a century has fought against royal oppression still endures and will suffer again the hardships of campaigns rather than yield the fruits of hard-won liberties. By a vast majority Cuba is with us.

"If the present administration in Havana so chooses it will be war no longer.

"Shall we be tricked by commissioners from Palma and armistices whose authority and validity he then denies?

"The intervention of the United States we do not wish. This is our own Cuban question; a question of our rights and liberties that we ourselves must settle. And in considering the question we ask consideration of the fact that it is one fraught with more consequences to Cuba than of momentary commercial loss or gain.

"The rights and properties of Americans will be respected by our forces.

"That all in Cuba will suffer as the result of the depression due to war is unfortunate and inevitable, but it is the Cubans, our countrymen, who will suffer most and with their patriotism they are gladly accepting the sacrifice; for out of it will emerge the former rights and liberties of constitutional government.

"To those Americans who believe in the liberties of all peoples and that right and justice should triumph, even over peace, we present our case and ask their sympathy.

Missouri Organizes Company to Aid Palma.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO, Mo., Sept. 14.—Charles Drake, soldier of fortune, and a member of the 40 Texas filibusterers' expedition, one of the few ventures that proved successful during the Cuban's fight for liberty with Spain, is organizing a company in this city to go to the assistance of President Palma within the next ten days.

He wrote several weeks ago tendering his services to President Palma and asking for five commissions, three in this city and two for parties in Mississippi.

The commissions have arrived and arrangements are being made preparatory to starting.

Mr. Drake married a Cuban, the daughter of one of the most prominent men on the island, whom he met during the revolution and while fighting under the command of her father.

"FIRE ALARM" JOHN STONE'S FOEMAN

Republican Managers Suggest Flanagan for Debate With the Senator.

CHALLENGE IS DECLINED

Roosevelt Boom Will Be Launched at Committee Meeting Saturday.

Senator Stone and the Missouri Democratic congressional nominees, who are anxious to match their oratorical ability in ten debates with their Republican antagonists, are doomed to disappointment.

Chairman Niedringhaus of the Republican State Committee says the Democrats cannot be accommodated because the speaking dates for the Republican spellbinders have already been arranged. The Republican managers also do not wish to ask Senator Warner to engage in a joint discussion of political issues with Senator Stone.

They are willing, they say, to pit "Fire Alarm" John Flanagan of Carthage against Stone.

Notwithstanding the refusal of the Republican State Committee to consent to debates with the Republicans, Henry S. Caulfield, Republican candidate for Congress in the Eleventh district, has challenger George T. Neville, the Democratic nominee, to a discussion of campaign issues.

Mr. Neville has not replied, but it is understood he will not accept the challenge.

St. Louis Republicans were busy Friday arranging for the meeting in St. Louis Saturday of the chairmen of the Senatorial, Congressional and County committees. Each of the 114 counties in the State will be represented. President Roosevelt will be boomed for a third term at this gathering and plans will be perfected to hold Missouri in the Republican column.

O'BRIEN SEEKS JUDGESHIP.

Temperance Man's Candidacy Injects "Lid" Into Fight.

That the "lid" will be made an important issue in the St. Louis municipal campaign this fall became evident Friday when William H. O'Brien, attorney of the Missouri Anti-Saloon League and one of the most pronounced supporters of Gov. Folk's administration, announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge. Mr. O'Brien told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had been assured the aid of enough influential Democrats to make his nomination certain. Being a temperance advocate, however, he counts on opposition from the liquor interests.

Mr. O'Brien says Gov. Folk's successors will enforce the Sunday-closing law and that St. Louis will never again sanction the open Sunday saloon. He believes the followers of Gov. Folk will be in charge of the coming Democratic city convention.

Mr. O'Brien is Supreme Sir Knight of the Knights of Father Mathew and is a member of the local job printers' Typographical Union, being the only boss printer in St. Louis to have active identity with that organization. He counts on formidable support from the union labor element.

He is about 48 years old and has been engaged in active law practice about 20 years. He was formerly a member of the House of Delegates. His brother, Father J. J. O'Brien, is one of the leading Catholic pastors of St. Louis.

Old Telegrapher Dead.

George W. Flowers, one of the best known telegraph operators in the country, was stricken with paralysis while working at his wire in the Western Union office Thursday night and died Friday morning at his home on South Nebraska avenue. Mr. Flowers came here several months ago from Kansas City. He has worked in all the larger offices in the United States during the past 30 years. He was 48 years old.

NIEDRINGHAUS HAD WOMAN ARRESTED

Judge Pollard Frees Daughter of Once Wealthy Manufacturer.

TOLD OF $30,000 CLAIM

Office Manager, Instructed to "Get Rid of" Her, Called Policeman.

Miss Jessie Quinby, daughter of the late Eben C. Quinby, and a one-time society leader in St. Louis, and accomplished in painting and music, through studies in Europe, was a defendant in the Dayton Street Police Court Friday.

The charge of disturbing the peace, which caused Miss Quinby to spend an afternoon and a night in a cell with three drunken negro women and another white woman, was made by J. B. Cozzens at the instance of T. K. Niedringhaus, president of the National Enameling and Stamping Co., and chairman of the Republican State Committee.

In the charge is involved a claim of $30,000 which Miss Quinby says she holds against the Niedringhaus firm.

Her father was a prominent manufacturer 20 years ago.

The arrest was made Wednesday at the office of the firm, Second street and Cass avenue, by a policeman summoned by Cozzens, who is assistant general manager of the firm.

At the hearing Friday, after two prosecuting witnesses had testified, Judge Pollard dismissed the case without questioning Miss Quinby.

Patrolman Georgins testified that, on the complaint of Cozzens he had arrested Miss Quinby at the company's office. She was taken from there in a patrol wagon to the North Market Street Station and locked up. He said that Miss Quinby's demeanor at the time of the arrest was ladylike.

Wanted to Be Rid of Her.

J. B. Cozzens, who was then called to the stand, testified:

"Miss Quinby has been a frequent visitor to the office. She asserts that she holds a claim of $30,000 against the firm, and her visits to the office have been made with the purpose of attempting to collect this claim. She has frequently been given money, never in recognition of any claim, but from charitable motives."

"On the morning of the arrest she came to the office and had some conversation with Mr. T. K. Niedringhaus, which ended when he told me to 'get rid of this woman.'

After he had told me that, he walked into his private office and shut the door. She tried to open it, but failed, because Mr. Niedringhaus held it closed on the other side. She took a place near the door. I told her to leave.

"Shortly after that Mr. Niedringhaus came out of his office, walked past Miss Quinby, left the office. She then went into his private office and sat down. I went for a policeman, who found her in the same seat and arrested her."

Judge Pollard then said that the incident which had been related was not a disturbance of the peace, as that offense is described by the city ordinances.

At this point it was asked whether T. K. Niedringhaus was in court. Attorney Fidelio C. Sharp, who represents the Niedringhaus firm, replied that he was not and added that the prosecution did not desire to have him called.

Didn't Want Case Heard.

Before the case was heard, Mr. Sharp had sought to have the case dismissed, but Assistant City Attorney Noonan declined to do this.

Miss Quinby was released from her cell at the Dayton Street Station at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Her bond of $100 was signed by Attorney Jacob Horine, who represented Miss Quinby.

Shortly before her release she said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"I am the only daughter of Eben C. Quinby. He was a member 20 years ago of the firm of Ralph Sellew Metal Co. Our home was at 3424 Morgan street.

"At that time my father was wealthy, he was in the enamel ware manufacturing business, and I moved in the best society. In 1881, after my father had severed his connection with the Sellew firm, we went to England. We lived in Worcestershire. My father had certain patents connected with the manufacture of enamel ware, and he secured others in England and Europe.

"We returned to the United States and traveled through Colorado and Utah. In Boulder, Colo., in 1889, my father was drowned. He left a considerable estate to my mother, my brother and myself, but we were unfortunate, and as we grew poorer we sought to sell certain secret processes for coloring enamel ware, discovered by my father and also left to us by him.

"It was from dealings with Mr. Niedringhaus' firm at this time that my claim against the firm grew.

"For the past year I have been living at 1302 St. Ange avenue, supporting myself by candy-making.

"I am sure that I was in no way disorderly. I shall never forget the terrible night I spent in the cell at the Dayton Street Station.

"I was given a cup of coffee shortly after my arrest at the North Market Street Station, and in the evening the policemen there gave me a very good supper.

"At midnight of that night I was taken in the patrol wagon with a crowd of drunken, swearing men and women, and brought to the Dayton Street station. Here I was placed in a cell with three drunken negro women, who kept me awake all night with their awful shouting and singing, and another white woman.

"In the morning I was taken from my cell by Capt. Gaffney. When I was arrested I had given my address as 1820 Hickory street, where I had formerly lived, and my name as Jessie Davis. But after my night in the cell I forgot and gave my right name and address. Capt. Gaffney upbraided me for not giving my right name at first."

At the hearing Friday Miss Quinby was dressed in a neat white waist and blue skirt. She is 40 years old, and her hair is gray.

LIMBERG RELATIVES AWAIT FUNERAL PLANS.

RUDOLPH LIMBERG.

The friends and relatives of Rudolph Limberg, who died in Paris Thursday, are waiting for a message from there telling what funeral arrangements have been made.

Mr. Limberg left St. Louis about three months ago for Europe with a view to bettering his health. At Bad Nauheim he suffered a paralytic stroke and it was some time before he could be removed from there. The party, which was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Limberg, their son Edward and Mrs. Limberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Koehler, then proceeded to Switzerland and later to Paris.

Mr. Limberg was secretary of the Columbia Brewing Co. and once was connected with several firms on the Merchants' Exchange. He was a Mason and a member of the Freie Maennerchor, the Bundeschor, and the St. Louis and Glen Echo clubs.

SHOT WIFE'S ESCORT, FREE.

Hildebrand, Fink Wounded, Fails to Prosecute.

Samuel Fink of 119 East Schirmer street, charged in a warrant with shooting Edward Hildebrand, a mail carrier of 8524 Water street, whom he found leaving Erlinger's wine garden in St. Louis County with his wife, was released by Justice of the Peace Preiss in Clayton Friday because Hildebrand did not appear to prosecute him.

The case had been called twice, but each time Hildebrand was absent, the first time being still in the hospital. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnston of St. Louis County had said that if Hildebrand did not appear an attachment would be issued for him and he would be forced to testify, but Johnston himself was not in court when Justice Preiss freed Fink.

Before taking this action the Justice questioned Fink and his wife and several of their neighbors. Mrs. Fink said she and her husband had not lived together for two years, but that they were going to begin housekeeping again at once. She said Fink had always been good to her. The neighbors testified that Fink was a good man.

On the day Fink shot Hildebrand he had gone to his wife's home, and, not finding her there, had gone in search of her. When he saw her and Hildebrand together he drew his revolver and shot Hildebrand in the chest.

Judge Adams Back on Bench.

Judge Elmer B. Adams of the United States Circuit Court has returned from his vacation, spent in Woodstock, Vt., and was on the bench Friday.

McChesney then said in answer to questions that he had conversation with Rea very seldom. He was then excused and as he got up to leave he said:

"In connection with the question about Chief Kiely complying with every request of the Aerminal Association I want to say that the Terminal Association is one of the largest tax payers in the city and we feel that we are entitled to police protection."

Prosecution Is Closed.

Testimony for the prosecution was concluded at 10:45 a. m. Lieut. Patrick McKenna and Sergt. James McGlynn of the Central District were the last witnesses for the prosecution.

Both officers corroborated the testimony of A. C. Maroney regarding a conversation in which Kiely is alleged to have said that he knew Sergt. Rea's reputation as a "woman chaser" for 20 years. They also testified that Union Station is daily visited by many women and children without escorts.

Attorney Leahy, on behalf of Kiely, then asked the board's permission to file a demurrer. Mr. Stewart told Attorney Leahy that the board would consider anything the defense had to offer. The attorneys for Kiely then asked permission to withdraw from the room to prepare the demurrer.

As soon as the demurrer, which held that the evidence did not bear out the charges against Kiely, was filed, Attorney Saunders began an argument in support of it. Prosecutor Williams replied.

The board after deliberation overruled the entire demurrer, holding that the evidence presented on each of the three counts was sufficient for consideration. When it re-convened at 1 p. m. the defense was taken up. It is said that the case will be completed Saturday afternoon.

In cross-examination Lieutenant McKenna was asked how he had remembered the details of Kiely's conversation with Maroney so minutely.

"Because I considered the statement made by the chief to be remarkable, and entirely uncalled for."

"Uncalled for because it was not an answer to anything Mr. Maroney had asked?"

"No, uncalled for and remarkable as coming from the Chief of Police, and at a time when the Rea case had already been disposed of."

Women Furnished Surprise.

The surprise of the Thursday afternoon session was the testimony of Mrs. Carrie Bruce, wife of a Four Courts turnkey, and Mrs. Kate Hellam of 906 North Eleventh street, both of whom testified that they had written anonymous letters to Chief Kiely, telling him Sergt. Rea was unfit for duty at the Union Station on account of his character.

Mrs. Bruce said further that she had telephoned to Chief Kiely, after sending him the letter, telling him of an appointment Rea had to meet a woman that afternoon, and gave him the address, and that Chief Kiely's laughing answer was, "She must be a good-looking woman."

Other witnesses who gave testimony considered damaging to the Chief were Andrew C. Maroney, former member of the Board, and Edward C. Wood, a former policeman.

Mr. Maroney was asked if Kiely knew of Rea's reputation. The "Rea" charge is that Kiely kept the Sergeant in command at the Union Station when he knew, or should have known, his character. Sergt. Rea has since been dismissed for immorality.

"Yes, Chief Kiely knew of that," said Mr. Maroney, positively. "At the conclusion of Rea's trial I was in the office, and I remarked that the outcome of the trial had surprised me very much. 'It's strange,' I remarked to Kiely, 'that Rea didn't have someone—you, for instance—to testify as to his character.'

"'Well, he couldn't have got me,' Chief Kiely answered. 'He's been a woman chaser for 20 years, and everybody has known it. Think I would testify for him?'

"Capt. Reynolds chimed in, 'Certainly. And even before he became an officer he was driven from the army on account of trouble over an officer's wife.'"

Capt. Reynolds was recalled to the stand and corroborated this statement.

Mrs. Bruce was an unexpected witness to the defense. She said that on one occasion she was at the Union Station when Sergt. Rea, with whom she had been acquainted many years, approached her and made an improper remark about a young girl who was leaving the station. On another occasion, she said, he made improper advances to her, and after that she never spoke to him on the street, she said, if she could avoid it. These incidents, thappened, as nearly as she could remember, in 1903.

On one occasion Mrs. Bruce said Rea went to her home, and soon after a widow arrived there. They left together, after Mrs. Bruce had told Rea she would not permit him to meet any woman another time at her home.

This widow, Mrs. Bruce testified, told her later that Rea went to her home often and sometimes took lunch with her. Mrs. Bruce said that the widow did not conceal the nature of the relations between herself and Sergt. Rea and that she (Mrs. Bruce) told others, including Mrs. Hellam, of them. The reports reached Mrs. Rea's ears and she went to Mrs. Bruce to confirm them. Mrs. Bruce said Mrs. Rea threatened to sue for divorce, and that it was finally decided to notify Chief Gillaspy, first, of Rea's conduct, in the hope that he would reprimand the Sergeant and thus put an end to his misconduct.

This was the reason, Mrs. Bruce said, for writing the anonymous letter and for telephoning to Chief Kiely later.

Knew of Widow's Admission.

Mrs. Hellam, a woman nearing middle age, made a peppery witness on cross-examination. Attorney Leahy, questioning her about her statements that she had written to Chief Kiely and that Mrs. Rea had appealed to her in her marital distress, was met several times with tart replies.

"Why," demanded Leahy, "did Mrs. Rea come to you about her husband's escapades?"

"I suppose because she wanted to."

"Then I presume she made public property of it, did she?"

"None of your business."

President Stewart was talking to Mayor Wells, and did not hear the reply. Leahy laughed heartily. He took another tack.

"And this widow told you of her relations with Rea? She was quite free about telling you, was she?"

"We are fellow lodge members."

"Oh, I presume she got up in lodge meeting and told everybody how Rea took her to a rooming house."

"No she didn't. If she had, we'd have expelled her."

Edward C. Wood was called to the stand to tell how he had shadowed Sergt. Rea from the Union Station once with a woman. On cross-examination Attorney Saunders said:

"You were dismissed from the force, weren't you?"

Says Kiely Was False Witness.

"Yes," said Wood, "on the false testimony of a certain man in this room."

"What? False testimony? Who was the man?"

"Mr. Hornsby told me—"

"Never mind what Hornsby or anybody else told you. Who gave the false testimony?"

"I am getting at that. Mr. Hornsby, who used to be President of the Council, and was ex-officio member of the Police Board when I was tried, told me afterwards—"

"Mr. President, I demand that this witness shall answer the question," cried Saunders.

"Answer the question first, and explain afterward if you want to," said Mr. Stewart. "Who gave the false testimony against you?"

"Chief Kiely," said Wood.

"Do you mean to say Chief Kiely testified falsely against you?" demanded Saunders.

"Certainly. This is the way it happened: I arrested a man who was redeeming some stolen diamonds from pawn. We couldn't prove he had stolen them, and the case was taken into Police Court, where it was continued. The man was a friend of John Kiely, a son of the Chief. Later I asked John Kiely what date the case had been continued to, and he gave me a date. I went to court on that date and found the case had been dismissed because I was not there to prosecute.

Clashed With John Kiely.

"When I told John Kiely what I thought of him for giving me the wrong date he said:

"'Do you know who you're talking to? This will cost you your job.'

"I told him I didn't care what it cost—I was going to tell him what I thought of him. A few days later charges were preferred against me for appearing on the street not in uniform and for conduct unbecoming an officer in talking as I had to John Kiely.

"I was dismissed. I was astonished, because I knew the evidence wasn't against me. A day or two later I met Mr. Hornsby, who had been a member of the board when I was tried, and told him how much surprised I was. He said that the charge really wasn't proved, and that I would have been acquitted if it hadn't been for my record. It was shown, he said, that I was an habitual drunkard.

"I am a teetotaler. I never took a drink in my life. I asked Mr. Hornsby what he meant, and he said Chief Kiely had brought before the board the record of a policeman named Woods, and said that was my record. My name is Wood. It was another man's record, and Kiely passed it off for mine so as to get me fired for talking that way to his son."

John Kiely, the son referred to, stood in a door of the chamber and gazed steadily at the witness during this testimony. At the time of Wood's trial, before Gov. Folk's election, the sessions of the Police Board were executive, and it was the custom to consult the Chief of Police at the trial of each accused policeman as to his record.

$75 FINE FOR BRENNAN.

Man Who Struck Girl Found Guilty in Police Court.

E. J. Brennan, also known as "Red," racehorse follower and frequenter of saloons, was fined a total of $75 in two cases by Judge Tracy in the City Hall Police Court Friday for assaulting Lieut. Belle Hayes, a pretty girl, while she was soliciting funds for the Volunteers of America.

The first assault took place at Mooney's saloon at Sixth and Chestnut streets a few nights ago. Lieut. Hayes went into the saloon to ask aid and was thrown across the room by Brennan, who was at the bar drinking with several others. She was then put out of the saloon by the proprietor, she testified.

Brennan was arrested at the instance of the girl, and when making the charge at the police station to Lieut. Hayes was again struck by him. It is said that her arm is partially paralyzed by the blow. Her arm was in a sling when she appeared on the witness stand Friday, and she told the Court that the blow caused her to lose the use of her arm.

Sergt. Harlow testified that Brennan struck the girl at the police station and Policeman Carney corroborated his statement. Brennan denied that he had assaulted the girl in the saloon and several of the witnesses testified that Brennan did not throw the girl across the room as she had stated.

Judge Tracy reprimanded Brennan while he was testifying for the use of vulgar language in making his statement to the Court.

STOMACH PAINS

And Splitting Headaches Day and Night.

Nothing Helped Until Patient Tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

They Brought Relief and Cure When Ordinary Medicines Seemed Only to Make Her Worse.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a remedy which has been before the American people for a generation, is still accomplishing wonderful results as is evidenced by the following interview with Mrs. Rachael Gardner of Wilsey, Kans.

"It was very strange," she says, "I never could tell what caused it and neither could anybody else. For a long time I had bad spells with my stomach. The pain would commence about my heart and was so deadly agonizing that I would have to scream aloud. Sometimes it would last several hours and I would have to take laudanum to stop it. Besides this I had a headache almost constantly, day and night, that nearly crazed me, so you see I suffered a great deal. And when I think of the agony I endured it still makes me shudder.

"'Doctors,' did you say? Their medicines made me sicker. I couldn't take it and I kept growing worse until a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I did. I began to feel better and was soon wholly converted to this wonderful medicine. It did me more good than I had ever hoped for. I kept on with the pills and now I recommend them to all who suffer."

More information regarding the treatment of stomach troubles will be found in the diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," sent free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured severe cases of indigestion, bloodlessness, influenza, headaches, backaches, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness and spinal weakness. S.S.S. FOR THE BLOOD

The purifying action and curative properties of this great remedy have made "S. S. S. For The Blood" a household saying, and thousands who are today enjoying perfect health owe their recovery from blood or skin diseases to this universally used blood medicine. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks which possess not only cleansing and healing ingredients, but building-up and strengthening properties to keep the blood in perfect order. No one can be well when the blood is impure; they lack the energy and strength that is natural with health, the complexion becomes pale and sallow, the vitality is weakened and they suffer from a general broken down condition. When the waste or refuse matter, which nature intends shall be thrown off, is left in the system because of a sluggish, torpid condition of the expelling members, it is absorbed into the blood, making this vital stream weak, sour and acrid, and its condition is manifested by boils, pimples, rashes, blotches and other eruptions of the skin. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and removes every particle of blood taint or poison of every character, makes the blood fresh and strong and gives energy to the entire body. When the blood has been cleansed by S. S. S. all skin diseases and eruptions pass away and the smooth, clear skin, glowing with health, shows that the body is being nourished by rich, pure blood. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, etc. are all deep-seated blood disorders, and for their cure nothing equals S. S. S. It does not injuriously affect the most delicate parts of the body and can be taken with perfect safety by old or young. You can obtain Certain Body-Building Results by Using GRAPE-NUTS FOOD

QUESTIONING A FRIEND.

If one takes the trouble to carefully question a person that has been using Grape-Nuts Food for two or three weeks, the facts will be brought out that gradually there comes over the body a feeling of increased strength, particularly of mental strength and ability.

The mind works clearer and more actively when it plays upon a brain that is refreshed, rebuilt and properly constructed by the food elements intended by Nature for such work.

This is a profound fact regarding Grape-Nuts. The Food contains just the kind of material Nature must have to unite with albumen, from which to rebuild the gray matter in the brain and nerve centers throughout the body. Therefore the user can expect and obtain a definite result from the regular use of Grape-Nuts.

PLANS CLUBS FOR MOTHERLESS GIRLS

CATSKILL, N. Y., Sept. 14.—A plan for the establishment of clubs in various cities and towns of the country for the encouragement of motherless girls was announced last night by Mrs. Maggie Vancott, 77 years of age, the evangelist and revival leader.

"We hope to band together for mutual aid, sympathy and protection of motherless girls throughout the land," said Mrs. Vancott. "Rescue missions are doing a noble work, but it will be the purpose of the clubs we are planning to reach the girls before they enter on the downward path and to safeguard them in every way. In New York, my native city, and in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago I expect to personally attend to the formation of so-called encouragement clubs. I look upon this work as the crowning event of my life."

FRISCO SUFFERER BEATS ATTORNEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—"If the grand jury had not become so gay the Eagle Insurance Co. would have paid its policy holders 100 cents on the dollar, whereas you will now get but 62½ cents. If you don't like this, sue us."

For these words, uttered by H. C. Quinby, agent of the Eagle company, Charlie Newman, former lessee and manager of the Russ House, beat Quinby into a state of unconsciousness at the latter's office. Charles Newman, at the time of the fire, was conducting the Russ House, which was insured in the Eagle company for $5000.

Several weeks ago his losses were adjusted and he called upon Quinby to effect a settlement. At that time Quinby offered Newman 75 cents on a dollar, but the latter held out for 85. Last evening Newman called upon Quinby, by whom he was informed that the best his company would pay was 62½ cents on the dollar.

Lameness in His Joints.

Mr. E. B. Deoss, of Lyndonville, Vt., was permanently cured of cold and lameness in his joints by the world's greatest tonic stimulant, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Thousands of letters are received daily from grateful patients who have been restored to health and vigor by the greatest of all tonic stimulants.

E. B. DEOSS.

"For a long time I suffered from a severe cold, accompanied by lameness and disabling pains in my joints and general aching throughout the body. Many remedies taken failed to give relief, and I soon feared, as I was a poor man, I would be unable to do my work. At this time, broken in health, and much that was disagreeable facing me, I was induced to begin the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and I am happy to state that from the first dose I began to feel the influence of its great healing power.

"I am now a well man, and offer this testimonial in gratitude and in the hope that others similarly afflicted may be persuaded to do as I have done. —E. B. DEOSS, Lyndonville, Vt., R. F. D., No. 3, Box 215, June 28. 1906."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic; it builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the heart, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles, and richness to the blood. It brings into action all the vital forces; it makes digestion perfect, and enables you to get from the food you eat all the nourishment it contains. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children, as it is a food already digested. It strengthens and sustains the system, is a promoter of good health and longevity, makes the old young and keeps the young strong. Duffy's is the only whiskey that is recognized as a medicine, and is guaranteed absolutely free from fusel oil.

BEWARE of dangerous imitations and substitutes. They are positively harmful and are sold for profit only by unscrupulous dealers. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. All druggists or grocers or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Doctor's advice and medical booklet free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

PHYSICIAN IS CONVICTED OF MAIMING MAN

Dr. Harrison of Kennett, Mo., Gets Five Years for Inhuman Operation.

EX-CONVICT ON TRIAL

Mysterious Assault on Daniel Crites, Prominent Farmer of Malden.

WAS BEATEN INSENSIBLE

Rolled Off Railway Track as Train Approached, Found Self Mutilated.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BLOOMFIELD, Mo., Sept. 14.—Dr. A. S. Harrison of Kennett one of the best known physicians in this section of Missouri, was yesterday convicted in the Stoddard County Circuit Court before Judge Fort of having performed an inhuman operation on Daniel Crites, a well-to-do farmer of Malden, and sentenced to five years in the Penitentiary. The trial lasted three days, and 110 witnesses were called.

John Sweeney, an ex-convict, indicted on the same charge with Harrison, was also tried and the jury is still out.

The indictments against Harrison and Sweeney were mayhem and assault with intent to kill.

Circumstantial Evidence.

Dr. Harrison was convicted on purely circumstantial evidence. No motive was shown and from testimony which was produced in the Sweeney trial that followed, it is believed by Harrison's attorneys that the verdict will be set aside and a new trial granted.

Crites was the main witness for the State.

"I came to Kennett from Malden Thursday night, Nov. 30, last," he testified, "to pay $35 taxes and make a land deal. I brought with me about $120. Friday morning I transacted my business.

"Some time during the afternoon I met John Sweeney, whom I had never known before, and with him went to Owl City, seven miles from here. We went there for the purpose of getting drinks, Kennett being a 'dry' town. While there Sweeney had a fight with a bartender, and had it not been for me he would have been killed.

Physician Joined Them.

"Later in the afternoon we returned to Kennett together, bringing some whisky with us. We met several men about town, and they accepted our invitations to have a drink. Somewhere about 10 o'clock at night Dr. Artaur S. Harrison, whom I have known well since we were boys and played ball together, joined the group.

"We visited the poolrooms around town and were ordered out of one because I sat on a table. When we left the poolroom Sweeney and Harrison suggested that we go to a house near the Frisco depot, where we could have a good time. This was late Friday nights. I went along and noticed as I approached the house that it was dark. When I reached the porch I was shoved ahead through a half open door.

"I saw at a glance that the house was deserted and attempted to step outside past Sweeney and Harrison and a third man I didn't recognize. As I did so, Sweeney hit me a terrific blow on the head. I fell to the porch and remember nothing more except that I felt as I lost consciousness that I was being jumped on."

"I understand that just before our group entered the house we were seen and recognized by John Pool, superintendent of the Poor Farm, who knows us all.

"I was brought to my senses at daylight Saturday morning by the rumbling and whistling of an approaching train. I found myself lying between the rails of the Frisco track, about 100 yards from the porch of the house on which I had been attacked.

"I rolled myself over the rails and down into a ditch just as the train passed. The cold water woke me up and I felt for my money and watch. They were gone.

"My watch was later found near the porch; also a 25-cent piece. When I could gather strength enough to walk I arose and went to the Kennett Hotel, three blocks distant.

In Ignorance of the Crime.

"I did not know at the time that an operation had been performed on me. I knew only that I was in great pain and faint from the loss of blood.

"While walking up the street I met S. J. Harris of Malden, a good friend of mine. He assisted me to the hotel, and when he started to undress me to put me to bed we discovered evidences of the operation.

Dr. Harrison, in his own behalf, admitted being with the crowd early in the evening, but denied going to the vacant house with them.

There was no evidence produced to show that Sweeney had a grievance against Crites because of alleged attentions to Mrs. Sweeney, who sued Sweeney for divorce. Mrs. Sweeney stated that she had never seen Crites before.

Dr. Harrison has for some years been the leading physician in Dunklin County. He succeeded his father and has a practice that gives him an income of about $5000 a year. He has always been somewhat wild and many stories of his exploits are told. His offenses have been overlooked by the authorities because of his brilliant mind and his good standing in the community. He is a brother of County Clerk C. P. Harrison and former Mayor O. S. Harrison.

Sues for Wife's Death by Blast.

Frank Resch asks $5000 damages from the Gilsonite Construction Co., in a suit filed in the Circuit Court, for the death of his wife, Josephine Resch, who was killed Sept. 4 by being struck by a piece of stone as she stood on the porch of her home, 8424 North Broadway. The missile was hurled by a blast several hundred feet away, where the Gilsonite company was destroying a wall. The suit alleges negligence on the part of employes of the company.

Sues for Death of Wife.

Suit has been filed in the Circuit Court by Peter Traut against the Society of the German Lutheran Hospital and Asylum for $5000 damages for the death of his wife. It is alleged that when an inmate of the institution she jumped from the third-story window while delirious from an operation and received injuries which resulted in her death.

Woman Remarries Sedalia Man, Initial Husband, After Friendly Divorce.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

PORTAGE, Wis., Sept. 14.—Joseph Waldo of Sedalia, Mo., and Mrs. Martha Kennedy of Endeavor were remarried here and the most remarkable love affair in modern times, in this State at least, has been revealed.

When they were younger they met, loved, married and raised a family. Mr. Waldo did not prosper and Mrs. Waldo concluded after several years of married life that she could do better alone.

There was no quarrel and no difference. She accompanied her husband to the station and kissed him good-by when the separation took place. She then obtained a divorce.

LIQUOR LICENSE FOR DAY DENIED

Excise Commissioner Mulvihill Issues No Permits for Picnics.

LAW DOES NOT ALLOW IT

Saloon Keeper Can Have Transfer Arranged by Closing His Saloon.

Managers of barbecues picnics for charity and celebrations, who go to the Excise Commissioner for a permit to sell intoxicants for a single day only are being turned down in considerable numbers by Excise Commissioner Mulvihill. On Thursday his office was visited by a delegation of negroes who desired his approval of a barbecue plan they had formed of selling sandwiches and giving away with each a glass of beer.

"That is a mere subterfuge," the delegation was told, "and if you give away the beer you will be prosecuted for selling liquor without a license." The negroes went away disappointed.

"We get frequent applications from organizations desiring to sell liquor for one day on a special occasion," says Excise Commissioner Mulvihill. "The law is absolute in its provision that no license shall be issued for less than six months or at a cost less than $300. A recent case in which I had to turn down an application for a one-day license was that of the Protestant Orphans' home, which wanted to sell liquor at a picnic, the proceeds to be devoted to the benefit of the institution.

"The delegation which made the request pointed out that the beer would be donated by the breweries and that a large sum of money could be realized from the sale of the beer. When I told them I would like to favor them, but that the law gave me no option whatever they appeared greatly surprised.

"'Why,' one of the delegation said, 'your predecessors have always granted us this privilege without question.'

Can Be Legally Arranged.

"I cannot interpret the law as giving me such a power. The only way liquor can be sold at a special occasion for one day is to have some saloon keeper change his location from the place where his license permits him to sell to the grounds where the festivities are held. The saloon keeper, to do this, must close his regular place for the day, and must file a regularly shaped petition allowing him to open in the new place. His application for the transfer of his license must lie in this office the prescribed 10 days before it can be granted.

"The persons who apply for one-day dispensations declare frequently that they have already arranged for their license from the Federal Government. The Government does not make the restrictions we are compelled to make under our excise law. The purpose of our law is not to multiply saloons. The Government grants a license to a woman, and even disreputable resorts. We are expressly prohibited by the law from granting such licenses."

Applications for one-day dispensations come in at the rate of about two a month. Shows like the "Burning of Moscow" make strong pleas for short-term licenses. They must all pay $300, which gives them the right to run six months, or they must arrange with a saloon keeper to transfer his license to the new location. At the House of Delegates' recent outing at the Fair Grounds the method by transfer was used to get the selling privilege. The saloon keeper had to submit a petition for a transfer of his license signed by a majority of the property owners on the Fair Grounds block. The Agricultural and Mechanical Association constituted this majority.

BAD BOOKS TABOOED.

Objectionable Literature Not Sold on Trains Hereafter.

T. C. Brown, general manager of the Brown News Co., has sent out a general order to all of the stands of the Brown News Co. to cut out all cheap literature that has a tendency to make heroes of criminals. The order reads that all of the Jesse James, Younger Brothers and Dalton Brothers books should be sent in immediately. Hereafter only first-class literature can be bought on the trains which have a contract with the Brown News Co.

In cutting out these books the first step has been taken to raise the standard of literature sold on trains. In late years some of the worst specimens of the "train robbery" stories have not been sold on the trains, but now even the best of the bad is tabooed.

It would naturally be supposed that the company's revenue would be diminished, but this is not the case. Almost all of the poor books have been selling for 25 cents. Now those that will be sold will bring 50 cents. For some time there will not be so many sold, but the revenue will not be diminished.

It is expected that the example set by the Brown News Co. will aid the other news companies in making the same move. Mr. Brown has been working on the matter for some time and has been slowly preparing for the general order by cutting out objectionable books from time to time.

HONESTY UNREWARDED.

Bellboy Returns Diamonds—Ordered From Room.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 14.—Honesty failed to make a reward at the Hayward yesterday when a bellboy, who restored two diamonds valued at $450 to W. C. Wilson of Oakland, was ordered out of the room for his trouble. Wilson sent for the bellboy and requested him to take his clothes to be pressed.

"Are you sure there is nothing you want in the pockets?" asked the boy and received an answer to "take them along."

He went.

While waiting for the messenger to come the boy looked through the pockets. In the trousers pocket he felt something hard. Investigation revealed two diamonds. The boy returned to Wilson's room and asked if he had lost anything. A short "No" was his answer.

"Are you sure you have lost nothing?" the boy repeated.

"No, I say. Get out of here."

"Have you lost a couple of diamonds?" the boy continued and he revealed the gems he had taken from the pockets.

"Yes, they are mine. Give them here," commanded Mr. Wilson.

Drowned on Florida Coast.

The funeral of Frank Voges will be held from the Spellbrink undertaking rooms, 1321 Franklin avenue, at 2 p. m. Friday. Mr. Voges was drowned last Sunday near Pensacola, Fla. While connected with the St. Louis Postoffice, Mr. Voges was at one time in charge of the sub-postoffice at Vandeventer avenue and Morgan street. He was afterward made superintendent of city delivery. Later he was appointed Postoffice Inspector in Kansas City, and a month ago was transferred to Florida.

CONNOLLY SAYS HE WENT ON SPREE

Declares He Can't Recall His Marriage to Eusebia Ferguson.

MIND IS IN A MUDDLE

Is Very Sorry and Will Return to Family When He's Sober.

Thomas Connolly of Woodland, who deserted his family two weeks ago and eloped with Miss Eusebia Ferguson, called up the Post-Dispatch by telephone Friday from the saloon of George C. eMyer at 4024 South Broadway and asked permission to give an account of his disappearance.

"I am Tom Connolly," he said by way of introduction. "Is there anything you want to ask me? I'd like to give my story of my disappearance last week.

"I've been away on my vacation and as usual I got on a spree. I haven't been in condition to take care of myself and Miss Ferguson went along to take care of me. If she says we were married I guess we were, but I don't remember anything about it.

"It's all a mystery to me. My mind is in a muddle yet and I'm going away, maybe East or maybe West, where I've got good friends, until I'm straightened out. Then I'm coming back to take care of my family.

"I think Miss Ferguson is the finest girl in the world and I think my family is the finest too. I saw my wife and children for a few minutes yesterday. The children cried for me. They want me to come back and I shall do so.

Says He's Been Ill.

"I've been sick and that's all there is to it that I can remember. I can't tell where I've been or what I've done, for I don't remember."

"Have you ever left your wife before?" he was asked.

"No, and I didn't mean to do it this time, but I got drunk or doped and I didn't know what I was doing."

"But your wife says you have left her several times before."

"Well, if she says so, that settles it. She knows me better than I know myself."

Several times during the conversation he called a person who was standing near the telephone to him and asked confirmation of his statements.

When asked a second time what he intended to do, Connolly said he would remain in St. Louis if the police would let him and that he would never think of deserting his wife and children again. He said he drank to excess only once each year, at the time of his vacation, and that he intended to remain sober until next vacation.

At the saloon a Post-Dispatch reporter learned that Connolly had gone south on Broadway after telephoning. He had not been seen there before.

Hunting for Connolly.

Benjamin Ferguson, brother of Miss Eusebia, and W. H. Hoover, who told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that he had kept company with her for about three years, declare they have not given up the hunt for Connolly.

"We will make him settle one way or another," said young Ferguson. "First we are going to have the officers of the law put on the case.

"Neither Hoover nor myself have seen Mrs. Connolly since Thursday morning, when we were at Woodland. Then she treated us very coolly and much different from the manner in which she first received us. She would have little to say to us Thursday."

Mr. Hoover, who lives in the Ferguson home, said:

"There are two very important points I want to learn, and they will decide how I shall act."

He would not say what they were. Ferguson says he has been told that Connolly was drinking excessively in downtown saloons Thursday night. He and Hoover now express the belief that Connolly was hidden in his home when they were there Thursday.

HAVE ENGLISH TO LEARN.

Two Girls Who Speak Only German Journey Here.

Two girls who cannot speak a syllable of the English language arrived in St. Louis Friday from Munich, Germany, to make their home with their sister, Mrs. John Rabenau of 2316 Cherokee street.

The girls are well educated and dressed handsomely. They are Gretchen and Elizabeth Welfel, 18 and 14 years old.

They bade their father and mother good-by Aug. 27, and departed for America. They experienced difficulty because they could not speak English. The mate on the ship gave them directions to St. Louis, and they followed these closely.

Mr. and Mrs. Rabenau were not expecting them Friday and did not meet them at the station, but called later for them.

Comparison Will Prove That We Give Best Values in

Men's and Boys' Clothing

THE men who take time to shop around and compare, will be the stanchest friends of the new clothing store. In equipping this magnificent department (which occupies a large part of the second floor and is readily accessible by the escalator and elevators) we took into consideration every detail. We realized that we would have to offer better values in order to secure and hold the trade necessary for the maintenance of this department, and you have only to go through the stock and note the excellent lines of patterns, qualities and low prices to realize that we are making a very strong bid for your patronage.

CLOTHING will be sold like everything else in the house—with the explicit understanding that unless you are thoroughly satisfied with every purchase your money is refunded. Coupled with the advantage of being able to rely upon every statement made in reference to the character and quality of the clothing, and the very low prices that are in effect, you are certain that every garment in stock is absolutely new and that the style and fabric is this season's production. You are invited to come and inspect our line, and even though you are not ready to make any purchases, every courtesy and attention will be shown you.

Ever see a Coffee Roaster?

There is one in operation every hour at Luyties.

It's not much to look at perhaps, but it is a most important factor in the preparation of coffee for the palate of the connoisseur.

Unless the coffee bean is roasted you simply can't drink it at all. If the bean is poorly roasted the coffee is very disappointing. When the coffee is roasted to that rich brown shade that the expert coffee roaster knows, it is highly satisfactory. But—

Get your coffee freshly roasted and dry-roasted as only Luyties can do it and it is altogether delightful.

Luyties' 25c Special Mocha and Java

—roasted every hour—

positively equals the best 40c Mocha and Java coffee, and we don't care where you buy it.

A trial pound ground just as you want it, and sent c. o. d. when and where you wish, will prove our every claim.

HASTE BLAMED FOR CROSSING WRECKS

Collision at Delmar-Wabash Tracks Calls Attention to Many Complaints.

CAR CREWS IN A HURRY

Passengers Say They Don't Take Time to Look for Trains.

The collision between a Wabash passenger train and a street car on the Delmar line at Rosedale Station, the intersection of Delmar boulevard and the Wabash tracks, east of Delmar Garden, Thursday, has called attention to the numerous complaints of passengers against the speed and seeming carelessness of the street car crews and trainmen at grade crossings.

Many complaints have been made recently about the high speed that the street cars make at the point where the accident took place. Persons living west of the Wabash tracks and persons going to and from Delmar Garden in crowded cars say that the cars increase speed from Delmar Garden to Union avenue and scarcely stop when the railroad tracks are reached.

Especially is this said to be true with the Page and Delmar cars, which now lose time on account of the reconstruction of the tracks on Washington avenue, causing the cars to be detoured over Olive street at Twenty-first street. The motormen are required to run on schedule time, and they must make up the lost time somewhere. They take advantage of the stretch from Union avenue to Delmar Garden, which is not thickly settled to make up time.

Double Tracks Dangerous.

The double tracks of the Wabash, on Delmar, make the point where the accident happened particularly dangerous. The responsibility lies with the gate operator for the Wabash Railroad and with the conductor on the street cars. The gateman, who is the telegraph operator at Rosedale Station, has double duty to perform. He has to attend to the telegraph instruments and look after the gates also. It is his duty to lower the gates when he knows that a train is approaching.

Conductors on the street cars are required to cross both tracks, go to the opposite side from where the car is standing, and if there is no train coming give the signal to the motorman to proceed across the track. The motorman is not to move his car until he gets the signal from the conductor, who is alone held responsible.

This is said to be where conductors get careless. They get out of their cars, run to the first track and barely take time to see if a train is in sight before giving the advance signal to the motormen. The motormen are required to stop 50 feet from the track, bringing their cars to a standstill. Complaints have been made that motormen do not obey this rule, scarcely stopping their cars and always going within 10 feet of the track before stopping.

Trainmen Blame Signal.

The agent and the gate operator of the Wabash at Rosedale lay the blame of the accident Thursday upon the conductor, who, they say, did not give the proper signal. They say if the conductor had gone across the track to give the signal, he instead of the car, would have been struck by the train. They say that the conductors are careless, many of them barely going to the edge of the track before signaling the motorman to proceed. They say they have frequently lowered the gates when the trains were approaching and have caught cars on the track or the gates have struck cars that were passing.

Street car men say that when the gates are raised it is a signal that the way is clear, and they go ahead with the car. They say if the gateman is attending to his duty properly he will not raise a gate when a train is approaching.

The motorman on the car that was struck by a Wabash train Thursday said that the gate was raised after a southbound train had passed, thus indicating that the way was clear. A northbound train hit the car.

The United Railways Co. maintains a watchman from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight during the heaviest traffic at Rosedale crossing.

FOR BENEFIT OF ORPHANS.

Oblate Sisters of Providence to Hold Fall Fair.

Friends of the Oblate Sisters of Providence will be summoned to the annual fall fair and lawn sale of the Sisters by means of souvenir postcards. The fair and sale, which will be for the benefit of the colored Catholic orphans at Normandy, will be held Saturday, Sept. 29, and Monday, Oct. 1, on the orphanage grounds. No admission will be charged. Mrs. A. M. Butler is chairman of the committee that has the fair in charge, and the different Catholic organizations of the city have been asked to give their aid.

A Knights of Columbus voting contest will be held. The candidates are Dr. Emmet Kane, Edgar Voll, John Corley and J. Whelan.

Among the articles for sale will be plain and fancy needlework done by the Sisters and orphans. A Japanese musical program will be given.

An entertainment will be given Sunday afternoon, Sept. 30, at 3 o'clock.

WEDDED MID LIONS, PART.

Heroine of Marriage in Animals' Cage Returns.

Mrs. Pearl Hogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morton of St. Louis, who was married a month ago in a den of lions during a street fair in Des Moines, Ia., has, according to a dispatch, decided to return to her parents' home, her husband having disappeared.

Mrs. Hogan became acquainted with her husband in Boonville, Mo., and the marriage was against her parents' wishes. The parents live at 2861 South Jefferson avenue.

Women to Aid Loyal Legion.

Two Illinois women, Mrs. Ida B. Cole noted for her anti-cigarette work in Chicago, and Miss Emma Allen, superintendent of franchises, will spend the winter in St. Louis and aid the W. C. T. U. workers in their efforts to increase and strengthen the membership of the Loyal Temperance Legion. Mrs. Cole has been in Kirkwood for the summer, but will live at the Washington Hotel through the winter.

Sewer Along Des Peres.

The Board of Health has indorsed the Sewer Department's plan for straightening out River des Peres and constructing a sewer along its course. The board has voted to ask the Board of Public Improvements to straighten the river south of Manchester avenue to carry off the sewage which clogs it at that point. Residents of the vicinity had protested against the sewage conditions.

WATER POLO GAME HAIR RAISING AFFAIR

Players Take Each Other Down and Stay Interminable Times Under the Aqueous Fluid—Stirring Battle Duels in Chicago-Missouri Contest.

BY J. B. SHERIDAN.

Water polo is a game which any strong man would as indifferently play with his dearest girl as his dearest foe. Because in either case it means get a good neck hold and duck out of sight. What happens thereafter is a matter which lies entirely between you two.

There is a lot of water polo to be played at these swimming championships which are taking place at Laughlin's Lake during the current week. The Chicago Athletic Association will play the New York Athletic Club Saturday afternoon. No person who likes to see men drowned should miss this game. It will be the living limit in submersion.

The Chicago A. A. played the Missouri Athletic Club Thursday. This was merely in the way of a claw-cleaner for the Chicago boys. The M. A. C. has not much of a polo team. There is Dute Cabanne, who, like good Jack Falstaff, is aging and fattening; Sam Stein, who is too light; Andre Roosevelt, who is a bit short-sighted; Charley Grimes, who is none too good under water, and Manfred Toeppen, who is also worried by his eyes. This lets the M. A. C. out with one real player, Tom Martin.

And the Chicago fellows are bears, elephants and whales all in one. Sharks, too, some of them. They simply ate up the M. A. C. fellows, 6 goals to 0.

It was a grand game in one spot mostly—the duels under the water between Tom Martin of the M. A. C. and Gene Durand of Chicago.

Durand is a Chicago back, Martin a St. Louis forward. So it was natural that they should hook up at times and go down.

Durand is not a pleasant-looking party to tie up with in a drowning contest. He has tremendous arms and shoulders, a small head, a Battling Nelson nose and a cruel mouth. But Martin was game. Then he has long wind, which means he is a good man with the strangle hold under water.

THE RUSH FOR THE BALL.

They start play in this polo game much after the manner of an association football contest. The referee stands in on the edge of the tank, which is 90 feet long by 25 wide. The teams, six men to each, assume positions on the platforms at each end of the tank. The referee asks each if they are ready. Receiving an affirmative reply he blows a whistle and tosses a half blown rubber ball about the size of a cantaloupe into the water in the center of the tank. Then both teams plunge into the water. The players try hard to reach it first. Then the fun begins.

Bob Laughlin, some time of St. Louis, now of Chicago, son of Judge Laughlin, on whose grounds the swims took place, played center forward for Chicago. It was his terrific plunges and heaving strokes which gave Chicago the ball on eight or nine occasions on which they swam for it Thursday. Possession of the ball is quite an advantage. For as soon as the leading forward secures the ball from the plunge off he passes it back to the men behind him. Then the forwards shift up and separate and maneuver for vantage, and feint and bluff and try to get a favorble position from which to make a rush for the goal when the ball is passed to them.

Meanwhile the back in possession of the ball watches the opposing forwards coming upon him and his own fellows up near the other goal. When he gets a good opportunity he passes the ball with a long toss to his forwards or with a short one to another back. It is, of course, the business of opposing players to intercept these passes, or, failing that, tackle the man who receives and holds the ball. Tackling means grab him by the neck and go down with him until he lets go of the ball or outstays and outfights you under the water.

DELIGHTFUL GAME.

Oh, it is a delightful game. Martin had the ball Thursday and was edging for the Chicago goal. Durand bore down upon him. Martin could not find a fellow player in a favorable position to accept a pass so he had to hold the ball.

"I've got you," said Durand, making a lunge.

"So be it," replied Martin, grabbing the giant Chicagoan with his free arm. "I believe I am as good a man under water as you are." And down they go.

The other players swam about and jumped up and tried to see like rabbit dogs in growing corn. The spectators kept staring and wondering if either player ever would come up. Dute Cabanne and other tired boys hung on the edges of the pool and waited. Manfred Toeppen, who is of a morbid disposition, became anxious about his teammate—no, he did not care what happened Durand—and said:

"Vot in himmel kind of game vos dis?"

By and by Durand came up and grabbed a yard or two of air in a jiffy.

He was in need of it. Martin came up an instant later and did not seem at all distressed. He still held the ball for which they were supposed to be scrapping among the fish. Those who were near about said that Martin made Durand come up. He could not hold him down because he had only one hand available for that purpose. The other was busy with the ball.

Next time Martin came along Durand was heeled for him. He called upon Loedhe, his fellow back. They both took hold of Martin and down all three descended into the dip.

The water was churned into foam. Now and then a leg would come up and a foot would wave adieu, all of which proved that heads were far down in the water. Durand came up but Martin and Loedhe stayed down a minute or so longer. When they did come up, Martin was all in and done.

His eyes were popping out and he vomited water for 5 minutes. He had the ball and only one hand and his teeth to battle with two men. They sort of worsted him and he was of little use to his team thereafter.

LAUGHLIN MAKES DIRE THREATS.

Down at the St. Louis end some bad man was busy now and then. Once Bob Laughlin came up spouting like a whale and roared:

"The next —— who hits me in the nose and kicks me in the stomach I shall drown, so help me Heaven." t was as Joe Stewart remarked: "Lavely billiards."

Another gentleman secured a foul hold on Loedhe and hung until the Chicago hollered ensanguined manslaughter. Loedhe accused the St. Louisan of foul tackling and his sportsman-like team mates wanted to know who the man was who held Loedhe so hard. The New Yorkers who will meet Chicago on Saturday wanted to know who the fool was who had secured so fine a hold and then let go without taking the flesh with him.

Dute Cabanne, who is married and has two children, was wise and careful until he hooked Kehoe in the second half. The little Irishman grabbed Lucien Duthiel, and it was a case of "I'll see you later." They were gone quite a while. Mrs. Cabanne sat in the stand very white and still save that her toes beat nervously on the boards. Considering it was even money, she never saw her husband again in this world, Mrs. Cabanne held her nerve most wonderfully. Finally, Kehoe thought of her and the babies, and gladdened her eyes with another sight of Duthiel.

Kehoe says that none of the New York boys are married and that he will not be governed by any such silly feelings of humanity Saturday afternoon.

It was great fun. The Chicago boys won 6-0, which is not so bad a beating considering the handicaps the St. Lous lads worked under. It is a grand way in which to commit suicide to play water polo. Rugby football is mere amusement for misses and prize fighting is the occupation of senile debility compared with it.

No man with what the Edgar Saltus tribe of writers denominates "red blood in his veins" will miss the game between New York and Chicago Saturday. It will be ten times a finer spectacle than the marine fight at Santiago. There will be more men killed too.

The teams were:

Chicago A. A.	Position.	Missouri A. C.
C. L. Healy	Goal	Sam Stein
Frank Kehoe	Forward	Andre Roosvelt
Gene Durand	Back	Charles Grimes
William Loedhe	Back	L. D. Cabanne
R. T. Laughlin	Forward	M. Toeppen
G. W. Gaidzik	Forward	T. H. Martin

YE GENTIL GAME OF WATER POLO AS PLAYED AT LAUGHLIN'S LAKE

HANDY SWIMS VERY BRILLIANT HALF MILE

Chicago Champion Gives Beautiful Display of Aquatic Skill, Beating Goodwin of New York in Championships.

H. J. Handy of the Chicago A. A. and the water polo game between the Chicago A. A. and Missouri A. C. teams attracted the greatest attention from the spectators at the first day of the National A. A. U. swimming championships at Laughlin's Lake, Thursday.

It was expected that Handy and C. M. Daniels of the New York A. C. would meet in the half-mile swim. Daniels could not very well compete in the half-mile, however, as that event was run off right after the 100 yards championship race, which he won. The crowd figured that Daniels and Marquard Schwarz did not want to meet Handy and the Chicago boy was made a big favorite as a result.

Handy's opponents were T. W. Kitching and L. B. Goodwin, both of the New York A. C. Goodwin went out to win the race from the crack of the gun. He swam the trudgeon stroke and set a terrific pace for the first lap of 60 yards. Handy fell behind about five yards.

The race called for eight laps. Goodwin let down on the third lap and Handy caught up with him. Goodwin swam desperately, cut over on Handy several times, forcing the Chicago boy to lose his stroke, and once to avoid bumping into his opponent, although he was in his own lane, Handy pushed over and got tangled up in the rope of his lane, losing at least three yards.

Goodwin Worn Out.

On the sixth lap Goodwin began to tire and Handy gradually left him behind and won by fully 25 yards. Kitching, who was an added starter, dragged along after being distanced to get third prize. Handy swam his crawl stroke throughout, which amazed the spectators, many being heard to remark that Handy swam a half mile in the same manner that the average swimmer would go out for a 50-yard race. Handy, however, swam the same stroke for 10 miles in the Mississippi River and will use it again in the mile swim today. His time Thursday was 13m. 24s., which is 12 seconds and a fraction slower than the American record for the distance, held by C. M. Daniels of the New York A. C.

As was expected, that 100-yard championship race was a ding dong affair. Daniels won, and in so doing equaled the American record of 60s, held by Scott Leary of Frisco. Marquard Schwarz was second, about five yards behind Daniels, while Crane of the New York A. C. was third, about four feet behind Schwarz.

Goessling Wins Breast Stroke.

St. Louis' only real genuine swimming champion, A. M. Goessling, simply made a show of his field in the 200-yard breast stroke championship swim. Goessling is built to perfection for swimming the breast stroke and won at New York in the National A. A. U. indoor championships last winter. He also won the 10-mile swim in the river.

Thursday he did not get away from his mark any too well and got a mouthful of water as a starter. By this time Swatek of Chicago, Toeppen of the M. A. C., Jacquemin and Wenck of the New York A. C., were all in front of him. Goessling raised up for an instant, slowly twisted his head around so as to take a good look, for all the world like a turtle, took a big breath and he was off.

The way he overhauled the bunch was a shame. At the 50-yard mark he was actually leading by 5 yards, after regaining the four lost on the start. Down the course he went and when he turned he met the whole flock swimming for the turning point. Gessling took things easy coming back for a few moments, but he hit it up a bit nearing the finish, and won by about 25 yards. At any rate he got to the finish in time to crawl half out of the water and watch the exciting duel between Toeppen, Swatek and Jacquemin for second place. Swatek had tired himself out chasing Goessling on the first lap and Toeppen came in just in time to get the silver medal, while Jacquemin only missed beating Swatek out of the bronze disk by a few feet.

On the island opposite the finish of the 50-yard swim were a number of ladies. Songs were sung with a stringed orchestra and they attracted almost as much attention as the races.

RUGBY MATERIAL POOR AT HARVARD

Experts Say That Crimson Squad Is Scantest and Raggedest of Years.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 14.—Football training at Harvard started this afternoon, 26 men reporting to Coach W. T. Reid and Capt. Hatherly Foster. It has been expected that at least fifty men would be on hand, and when Reid and Foster looked the candidates over they were doubly disappointed, for, besides being few in numbers, the quality of the aspirants is not promising. In fact, some of the football experts who looked at the bunch said it was the poorest looking lot they ever saw to start training with.

In the squad today were five men who won the varsity letter in football last year. They were Capt. Foster, left halfback; Harry Kersberg, left guard; Jack Wendell, right halfback; Jimmy MacDonald, substitute, and Phil Lockwood, substitute fullback.

Of last year's team who are expected to report, Parker, the center, will be out in a day or two; Burr, left guard, and Starr, quarterback, are in Europe or on the way across, and Newhall, substitute quarterback, will be out soon.

Though the work done today was not strenuous because of the heat, what was done indicated clearly that the coaches are going to work on a different game from the football of the last decade. There was no allowing a man to "bounce" a kick, the punting was not just like the punting of old, and there was some practice in passing the ball, as it will have to be thrown in a forward pass.

The punting itself was good enough for a beginning, Lockwood, Lincoln, Foster and Wendell all getting in a good bout in their work, however, and accurate kicking will be no mean factor in this year's game.

Tomorrow there will be secret practice, as Reid has a number of experiments which he wishes to try on phases of the new rules. It is unusual for a team to go into secret work so early in the season, but it becomes necessary this year on account of the new rules.

SWIMMING NOTES.

Has Handy got Dainels and Schwarz bluffed?

Little George Hall of the M. A. C. was down-hearted because he did not win the 50 yards junior. Some of the fellows who trimmed Hall should have been able to carry him on their backs as jockey. He got third and a bronze medal. George can wait a year or two until he grows up and then he can get even with the big fellows.

Events to be decided today, starting at 2 p. m.—100-yard swim junior, 50-yard swim, intermediate; 100 yards, swimming on back; 220-yard swim, championship; one-mile championship swim, water polo.

Daniels will swim in the 220-yard race today and pass up the mile. Marquard Schwarz will do likewise. Watch Daniels win the 220 and Schwarz finish second. Also take another look at Handy's crawl stroke while he is walking away with the mile swim.

The quarter-mile championship swim Saturday will be the feature race of the championships. H. J. Handy is not afraid of Daniels and after swimming the half-mile and mile on successive days, which should dull his speed greatly, he is going to try to beat both Daniels and Schwarz in the quarter-mile. Handy holds the indoor record for the quarter-mile, so he has a chance at least.

It was a stylish crowd of about 800 spectators that witnessed the contests Thursday. With the attendance today and the big crowd that is expected Saturday, it seems that the M. A. C. should break even on the expenses for holding the meet on the admission fee charged to the grandstand.

The street car service to the swims was miserable. There were long waits for cars on the Creve Coeur line and every one was packed and jammed to the limit. The through cars which were supposed to be at Fourth street and Washington avenue were either lost, strayed or stolen.

That 50-yard intermediate swim Friday will be so easy for Otto Schwarz that he will have to put a chunk of cotton in his mouth as well as in his ears, when on the starting mark, to keep from laughing. Bartels, winner of the 50-yard junior, should walk off with the 100-yard junior Friday in easy fashion also.

FIRST FOOTBALL INJURY OF SEASON

While playing left tackle for the McKinley High School team against the second team in the practice of the squad near the school Thursday afternoon, Savage, one of the new players, received what is so, far as known, the first football injury of the season in St. Louis.

Savage, while on the ground after a scrimmage, had the index finger of his right hand stepped on by Wiederholt. One of the cleats of Wiederholt's shoe almost severed the finger. It is feared that the finger may have to be amputated.

Douglass Johnson played quarterback for the regular eleven and handled the team nicely. Johnson and Springer will do the kicking for McKinley. The boys who were out and played on the first team were: Johnson, Moser, Trupshaw, Kerr, Hagen, Roache, Kirkpatrick, Gray, Springe, Loud, Cooper, Wiederholt, Kane and Gaertner. The first and second teams will meet in a practice game Friday afternoon.

The Sportsman's Niche, by Sheridan.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of Champion Daniels, the champion swimmer of the United States at short distances, and Marquard Schwarz, champion of the West at the same routes, to avoid meeting J. H. Handy of Chicago at the half-mile and mile races, which are to be decided at Laughlin's Lake Friday and Saturday.

Handy will not meet Daniels or Schwarz in the short-distance swims because, he frankly admits, they can beat him at them.

Daniels and Schwarz will not admit that Handy can beat them at distances over a quarter-mile, but they have so far managed to avoid competing with him in races above that distance. It is idle to say that Daniels was so overcome by his exertions in the 100-yard swim on Thursday that he was not equal to the task of meeting Handy in the half-mile, swum immediately afterwards.

The 100 yards was only a mere warm-up for Daniels. He won, in fast time, 'tis true, but handily and pulling up.

Handy is not very popular in St. Louis since his protest of Goessling's triumph in the Busch swim last month. But it seems that he has fairly bluffed Daniels, the champion of America, and Schwarz, the champion of the West, out of distance above one-quarter of a mile.

It must be that Daniels and Schwarz admit Handy's superiority or that they are fearful of tackling him in far waters. The latter would be most unbecoming in the champion of America or the champion of the West.

What the people who are interested in swimming want to know is this: Do Daniels and Schwarz concede Handy's superiority at the distances above the quarter-mile, or are they fearful of meeting him in the water?

Baseball Babble

The Cubs will again show off at League Park Friday afternoon. Jack Taylor and Fromme, the Springfield recruit, will probably pitch.

Slagle got a base on balls the first three times up Thursday. He was retired on a fly on the fourth time up and struck out in the fifth attempt.

Barry batted best for the Cardinals. Jack swung his bat against two in four attempts.

Chance stole two bases and Schulte and Steinfeldt are credited with a pilfer each.

Crawford made the first hit for the Cardinals off Brown.

Evers, Tinker and Chance were makers of the only double play of the game.

The Cardinal outfield had only four putouts. Mertes and Murray each grabbed one while Burch collared the remaining one.

Tinker, with two hits in four attempts, batted highest for the Cubs. Schulte made two in five attempts.

The White Sox and Ravens will play a double-header Friday afternoon.

Stone and Pelty made two hits in four trials Thursday. Hemphill made two in three trips to the pan. The Ravens outbatted the White Sox, but they almost lost out in the ninth. Stone made the only extra-base hit of the game. It was good for two bags.

Niles did nothing in the field or with the bat. Rickey and Hartsell each clung to a safety.

Tom Jones and Pelty made the errors for the Ravens Thursday. The White Sox played an errorless game.

Although the Reds outbatted the Pirates in both contests they lost a double-header Thursday. Leever and Liefield turned the trick.

Duggleby was too much for the Beaneaters, who lost, 4 to 2. Dorner was knocked off the block in three rounds and Cameron took his place.

Smoot is getting almost as good as Shannon with the bat. Homer marched seven times to the plate. Only once did he get a hit. Weimer led his teammates with the bat in the first game. He made three hits in four trials. Fraser pitched the second game for the Reds.

Courtney and Dooin each made two hits in three attempts and were tied for batting honors. Dave Brain really made two hits in one game. And both of them were triples.

Pitcher Moffitt of the Central League is in demand. The Pirates would gladly accept his John Hancock. The Pittsburg club made overtures for the twirler last season, but the deal was not made.

The Highlanders tightened their hold on first place by defeating the Nationals, while the White Sox were tying the Ravens.

Chesbro pitched for Griffith and held the seven hits well scattered.

Since Elberfield has returned to the game he has been hitting like a fiend. He batted .500 Wednesday and Thursday his percentage was .667. He made two hits in three attempts. Laporte is also smudging the ball. He made one hit in two tries Thursday.

Jones and Schafly each made two hits for the Nationals Thursday.

The Highlanders lead the White Sox by 10 points, but should Comiskey's men win a double header, which is not likely, Mr. Griffith had better look out.

Connie Mack used 15 men in a desperate attempt to win Thursday's game from Boston, but failed in the tenth inning. He used Pitchers Plank, Dygert, Holmes, Coombs, Bender and Seybold batted for Plank and Dygert.

Sheen and Cross batted best for Mack's team. Each made two hits.

Hess of Cleveland was the usual puzzle and the Tigers made but four safe hits.

Congalton was the batting hero. He strode to the plate four times and each time he lammed one safe. Rossman comes second for batting honors. He made three hits in four times at bat.

Failure to get service on ex-Police Sergeant William T. Dowdall resulted in a continuance Friday of the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by his wife, Mrs. Catherine Dowdall, to the custody of their 3-year-old daughter, Catherine. The case went over until Sept. 23.

Randolph Laughlin, owner of Laughlin's farm, on which Laughlin's Lake is situated, went into the plunge for distance. Mr. Laughlin is quite a plunger, but has not been practicing. Nevertheless, his plunge was better by yards than those made by Grimes and Swatek, the latter holder of the underwater swimming record, and several other contestants. Mr. Laughlin failed to get a place, however. Bob Laughlin and Elmer Laughlin, brothers to Randolph Laughlin, both competed on the Chicago A. A. team.

Funny About That Word "Best"

To read the various ads, you would think that the word "Best" had lost its original meaning. It certainly has been abused.

We may be prejudiced, but you see we know how our clothes are made and we can't be blamed for trying to make you see it, too. The best there is is none too good for us, and it is our constant endeavor to put even more quality in at the price.

LAUNDRY TRUST DOUBLED PRICES

Independent Launderers Charge Combine Has Damaged Their Business.

ASK THREEFOLD VERDICT

Meeting at Southern Hotel Fixed Prices, Their Petition Complains.

How Laundry Trust Has Boosted Prices.

	Shirts each.	Collars per doz.
1899	5c	12c
1900	7½c	18c
1901	10c	20c
1902	10c	30c

That there is a laundry trust in St. Louis to control prices and limit competition is the charge of H. C. Milbratz and James McDaniels, who have led suit against 27 laundries, and the following officers of the St. Louis Laundrymen's Association: James Munger, Clifford Dolph, E. M. Woolger, John A. Hurster, George Burley and George Hase for $30,000.

Milbratz and McDaniels are in business under the corporate name of the Hub Laundry Co., at 2025 Cass avenue. They say the alleged combine has done them $10,000 damage in their business. Judgment for three times that amount is asked.

The claim for three-fold damages is made under Section 5981 of the Revised Statutes of 1899, which provides that "any person injured in his business or property by any other person or corporation by reason of anything forbidden or declared to be unlawful by this article may sue therefor in any circuit court of this State in which the defendant or defendants, or any of them, reside, or have any officer, agent, office or representative, or in which any such defendant or any agent, officer or representative may be found, without regard to the amount in controversy, and shall recover three-fold the damages by him sustained, and the costs of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee."

Prices Fixed at Meeting.

It is charged in the suit that the defendants are in a pact to boycott supply houses and machinery concerns which sell to those outside the combine.

The petition describes meetings alleged to have been held, the last in 1902, at the Southern Hotel, when prices for laundry work, since maintained, were decided on. The plaintiffs say the following attended this meeting:

R. N. Emerson, J. A. Hurster of the Anchor Laundry Co., A. K. Brettelle, Grand Laundry Co.; Frank Miller, Century Laundry Co.; Fred Ammann, Compton Heights Laundry Co.; Geo. Schwartz, Home Laundry Co.; Henry Peppercorn, Ideal Laundry Co.; Charles Lange, Lange Laundry Co.; Henry Freudenstein, Laclede Laundry Co.; M. T. Dunn and B. Kearne, Leader Laundry Co.; E. M. Woolger and Chas. Wilson, Monarch Laundry Co.; George Burley, Munger Laundry; L. M. Buschardt, National Laundry; Thomas Truitt, New American Laundry; Fred Schaub, Schaub Laundry (now the Newport Laundry); Ole Peterson, Peerless Laundry; Fred Paude, Union Laundry, and C. Doering, Standard Steam Laundry.

Besides the officers of the association the following are made defendants:

Anchor Steam Laundry Co., Benton Laundry Co., Broadway Laundry Co., Colonial Laundry Co., Delmar Laundry Co., Empire Laundry Co., Excelsior Laundry Co., Home Laundry Co., Ideal Laundry Co., Laclede Laundry Co., C. A. Lange Laundry Co., Martin-Halloren-Kraus Laundry Co., Mercantile Laundry Co., Monarch Laundry Co., National Laundry Co., Munger Laundry Co., New American Laundry Co., Newport Laundry Co., Odeon Laundry Co., Peerless Laundry Co., Old St. Louis Laundry Co., South Side Steam Laundry Co., Standard Steam Laundry Co., J. M. Fulkerson and Frank Miller, doing business as the Century Laundry Co., Fred Ammann, doing business as the Compton Heights Laundry Co.; Charles W. Bright, Ed Bright and James Bright, doing business as the Imperial Laundry Co.; James L. Munger, doing business as the Westminster Laundry Co.

Mr. Burley, president of the association, says there is no trust and that the organization is purely social in character. He declares the meetings are open to the public and laundrymen are invited to the association's outings, whether or not they are members.

At no time has the matter of prices come up before the body, he says. He points to the disparity in the price lists of various establishments. He also says the St. Louis Laundry Owners' Association has been practically out of existence for several years. He says that if a laundry trust existed the city would be divided into districts, which, he says, is not now done.

BORN HERE, ASKS PAPERS.

Native of New York Thought He Needed Naturalization.

Andrew Robin of 2635 Market street, who was born in this country, went to the Courthouse Thursday afternoon to apply for naturalization papers.

He explained his purpose to William Daly, clerk in the office of the Circuit Clerk, and Mr. Daly asked him where he was born. He said he had first seen the light in New York. He was told that a person born in New York is a citizen of the United States and can vote without being naturalized.

He explained that his parents took him back to Germany when he was only 9 months old and kept him there several years. He had an idea that his citizenship was impaired by this and did not want to take any chances on losing his vote.

YOU WILL SECURE CLOTHES ELEGANCE, FASHION CORRECTNESS AND STERLING QUALITY IF YOU CHOOSE FROM

FAMOUS ARTISTIC FALL ATTIRE

Famous Clothes are distinctly different from those shown elsewhere — they are thoroughly tailored throughout—the innermost details have had just as expert attention as the more conspicuous ones—they're clothes that supremely satisfy and retain their shapeliness.

The magnitude of our stoc ks—as large as the combined stocks carried by three ordinary stores—the immensity of our assortments, making selection easy—our ability to correctly fit men, young men and boys of every build and proportion—are all strong arguments why those new Fall clothes should again come from Famous.

Rogers, Peet & Co. of New York, and all the cleverest and most artistic Eastern tailoring geniuses have contributed their richest productions to this superior clothes exhibit—every correct style, fabric, pattern and effect, created for this Fall's service, is here in plentiful variety. By reason of our matchless four-store buying organization, Famous commands prices in the markets which no other local concern can obtain, and it's our joint tremendous output that gives Famous such unusual purchasing advantages, in consequence of which we can and do undersell all local stores on clothes of quality, dependence and merit.

MISSOURI ROBBER KILLED IN WICHITA

Robs Hotel Guests at Pistol Point and Is Shot by Cabman.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 14.—Joseph Fitzgerald, aged 21, known as a highwayman and crook, whose mother lives at Sedalia, Mo., was shot and killed here yesterday morning after robbing the Hamilton Hotel.

Masked men entered the hotel, robbed the clerk and guests in the office at the point of pistols, and took what money was in the cash register.

The hotel is less than half a block from the police station.

Leo Robbins, cabman, seeing the attempt, borrowed a gun from the police clerk and rushed to the hotel, opening fire on the robbers as he entered.

Fitzgerald was shot down. Half a dozen suspects have been arrested at Wichita and one man was taken into custody at Hutchinson.

Fitzgerald's mother in Sedalia wired particulars as to the disposition of the body.

FITZGERALD SON OF SEDALIA CONDUCTOR.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 14.—Joseph Fitzgerald, who was shot and killed at Wichita, Kan., was born and reared in Sedalia.

His father, Joseph Fitzgerald, now dead, was a conductor on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad and his mother is now the wife of W. B. Martin.

The son was 21 years old.

He had not resided here for several years. The body will be brought here for burial.

Fire in French Market.

Fire in the old French Market Thursday night did $3000 damage. Its origin has not been explained. The firemen worked for two hours, as bales of straw and excelsior had become ignited. The Victor Carriage and Wagon Co. and the Kaiser Bedding Co. lost together about $2000. The damage to the building was $1000.

POLICE SUSPECT MURDER OF GIRL; ARREST DOCTOR

Mystery in Disappearance of Buffalo Patient After Violence at Hospital.

FURNITURE IS SMASHED

Officers, Attracted to Place, Make Discovery Which Leads to Investigation.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Dr. W. W. Turver, who conducted hospitals for women at 101 Niagara street and 723 Prospect avenue in this city, is a prisoner at police headquarters and the police are trying to unravel the mystery of the sudden disappearance of Gertrude Knight of Philadelphia from his Niagara street establishment, where large quantities of blood-stained clothes and bedding were found.

The police were first attracted to Dr. Turner's Niagara street place on Wednesday morning, when, following a quarrel with Miss Geddes, his head nurse, Dr. Turver went through the place with an ax, smashing furniture and windows.

While investigating the case of the disturbance the police found a bed saturated with blood and a furnace partly filled with blood-soaked cotton.

Said Girl Left Town.

It was learned that a patient, who gave her name as Gertrude Knight of Philadelphia, occupied the room on Tuesday. Miss Geddes, the nurse, told District Attorney Abbott that her patient left the hospital on Wednesday and took the 11 a. m. train for Philadelphia. Her testimony in this respect is partially confirmed by Mrs. Ayes, a boarding house keeper, to whom Dr. Turver sent some of his patients. She said a woman came to her place Tuesday night and left for Philadelphia Wednesday. She did not know her name, however.

While investigating the Knight case the police learned that Edith Pinner of Hoboken, N. J., died at the Prospect Avenue Hospital Sept. 8. Miss Pinner's body was shipped to her home at Hoboken, N. J., by Undertaker M. J. Prouty.

Has Buried Eight.

In the last year Prouty says he has bured six women and two children for Turver. It was first suspected that the Pinner woman and the woman who disappeared from the Niagara street place were the same. This theory was dismissed yesterday when a trunk found in the Niagara Street Hospital was opened by the police.

It was filled with women's fine clothing and a bundle of letters addressed to Gertrude Knight. All the unexplained circumstances that now remain have to do with her.

Physicians consulted by the police doubt the statements regarding Miss Knight's sudden departure from Turver's place. They say that the woman who occupied the chamber on Niagara street lost so much blood that it would be impossible for her to travel so soon. They are also puzzled to know why she should leave her trunk and clothing at such a place.

Miss Geddes, upon being taken to the District Attorney's office, admitted that Dr. Turver's sally with an ax followed a quarrel with her, but steadfastly declined to divulge the cause of their trouble.

For Inspector of Plastering.

Speaker O'Brien will introduce at Friday night's meeting of the House of Delegates a bill to reform plastering in St. Louis and to provide for the appointment of a plastering inspector to be attached to the office of the Building Commissioner. He is to be a practical plasterer and to receive a salary of $100 a month for his work. Speaker O'Brien presents the bill at the instance of the Journeymen Plasterers' Union.

BRYAN REFUSES TO CALL THE ROLL

Declines to Accept Sullivan's Proposition to Poll List of Illinois Delegates.

REPEATS CHARGES MADE

Nebraskan Says His Candidacy Is Question for Democracy Alone to Settle.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 14.—W. J. Bryan, in his reply to the statement of National Committeeman Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois, given out last night, declines to make the discussion a personal one and declined to consent to Mr. Sullivan's roll call challenge contest.

Mr. Bryan reiterates his charges against Mr. Sullivan and says the question at issue must be submitted to the Democrats of Illinois when they select delegates to the next national convention. He says Mr. Sullivan is officially connected with a favor-seking, franchise-holding corporation, and the question is whether the Democratic organization should be paralyzed by the influence of men whose private interests make it impossible for them to be guardians of the public.

Mr. Bryan says that he has not asked for the nomination of President and has not announced that he will be a candidate, consequently he will not submit the question whether he should be a candidate to Mr. Sullivan or any body of citizens less numerous than the members of the Democratic party of the United States. Neither can the question as to whether Mr. Sullivan be re-elected to the national committee be submitted to the members of a committee already adjourned. Such a decision would have no binding force.

Mr. Bryan says he will urge the Democratic party to put itself in a position where it can fight boldly and persistently for the regulation of such corporations as are not monopolistic, and for the prevention of any private monopoly whatever. To this end the organization must be composed of men who are free to act for the public, and not tied by personal interests to corporations which are seeking favor at the public's expense.

APPLAUDS CINCINNATI FOR ITS REFORM MAYOR.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14.—With a stand on the diamond of the National League Ball Park as a rostrum, W. J. Bryan last night spoke to an immense gathering, which filled the grandstand and several thousand additional chairs. Mr. Bryan told his audience how pleased he was over the reception and congratulated the people of Cincinnati over the election of an honest Mayor. He said previous to Mayor Dempsey's advent Cincinnati was second only to Philadelphia in municipal corruption.

"BRYAN POLICY WOULD RUIN COUNTRY"—SHAW.

NEWPORT, Tenn., Sept. 14.—Secretary Shaw spoke here today to a crowd of about 700 persons. He defended the Republican administrations, upholding the trusts as a general proposition, and vigorously attacking Bryan's declarations, especially his Government railroad policy. He acknowledged Mr. Bryan to be the most prominent private citizen in the United States today, but declared that, should Bryan's ideas prevail, the country would "go to ruin, as it did when Grover Cleveland was President;" also, that the enforcement of Bryan's theory would, in effect, change the whole plan of government which Thomas Jefferson founded."

Foundling at Taussig Home.

Crying because it was cold, a 2-weeks-old infant called William Taussig, president of the St. Louis Bridge Co., to the front porch of his residence, 3447 Lafayette avenue. The infant, scantily clad, was cared for in the house until the police came. It was then sent to the Bethesda Home.

BANK SWINDLERS CAUGHT IN CHICAGO

Five Members of Gang of Forgers Arrested in Touring Car.

AUTO AIDED DECEPTION

When Man Was Questioned by Teller Companions Would Identify Him.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Five members of a mysterious gang of forgers were arrested last night in an automobile by city detectives and were locked up at the Harrison Street Station. The utmost secrecy was maintained by the police regarding the arrests. It is said that thousands of dollars were secured by the swindlers and many prominent banks are losers.

For the last month complaints have been received by Chief of Police Collins against the forgers. They are said to be the cleverest men ever operating in this city.

It is said that the passing of the forged paper became so easy that the swindlers became reckless and this led to their arrest. All were stylishly dressed. They would drive up to a bank in a large touring car, which aided in the deception, and one of their number would enter.

He would present a check to the teller, and so perfect was the signature that the money was quickly forthcoming. In several cases when the swindler was questioned one of his companions would identify him.

At one bank the forgers secured $500. No trouble was experienced and other banking firms were swindled in a similar manner. The men are said to have spent money lavishly, and in their set were looked upon as millionaires. It is probable that the sums secured by the forgers will amount to $10,000 and may go even higher.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH STRIKE THREATENED

Of 32 Demands Made by Operators, Only 4 Are Granted by Employers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—A general strike of operators of the Postal Telegraph Cable Co., with Chicago as the central field of operations, became a possibility today when the answer of the company to a long series of demands of the union was given out.

To a list of 32 suggested rules which the local officers of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union submitted to E. J. Nally, general superintendent of the company, only three or four were adopted, which the operators consider important concessions. In all the other "suggestions" the employes were "turned down," gently, but firmly.

Behind the demand of the employes, which probably will take the shape of an ultimatum on certain questions of wages and hours within a few days, lies the great question of the recognition of the union. The demand of the operators was made simultaneously in Chicago, New Orleans, Birmingham and Washington.

The letter which was placed in the hands of each operator in Chicago yesterday, ignores the existence of the union. It is this which has aroused the operators.

CASH REFUSED INVENTOR.

Fireman, Father of New Engine, Returns to Work.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ESCANABA, Mich., Sept. 14.—Fearing that an attempt is being made to steal his invention, and because of the refusal of the man conducting the negotiations for its purchase to convert a draft for $975,000 into cash or to prove its validity at a bank, James F. Devlin, the Northwestern fireman-inventor, returned to Escanaba today and says that he will resume his old position on the railroad until the cash is turned over to him.

He claims that by his invention a locomotive will use but one-fifth of the present coal consumption and will utilize 65 per cent of the heat units, where but 15 per cent are now controlled by locomotives.

FOUND NOTE, WIFE JEALOUS.

When Albert C. Wedge, a street car conductor, found a love letter on his car and put it into his pocket, he was thinking only of the fun he would have with it. When Mrs. Martha E. Wedge, his wife, found it in his pocket, there was an end to the fun and trouble began.

Mrs. Wedge thought the love letter had been written to her husband and he says, in his petition for divorce, filed Thursday afternoon in the Circuit Court, that he had an awful time convincing her that the letter had not been written to him.

In spite of his denials and protestations, Mrs. Wedge went to the address given by the writer of the letter. She found that the writer was a school girl, and was told that the letter had been written to a schoolboy sweetheart, but she was not convinced. She accused the girl of writing the letter to her husband, and would not be convinced to the contrary.

BOODLERS SOON TO KNOW.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 14.—Gov. Folk said today that he expected within a few days to announce the exact day on which Julius Lehmann and Emil Hartmann, two of the three St. Louis boodlers in the Penitentiary, would be released from prison under the commutation he said several weeks ago he would issue.

Mrs. Hartmann and Miss Lulu Lehmann, daughter of Julius Lehmann, visited the two men at the prison today, and later visited Gov. Folk. The Governor did not tell them the exact date on which the men would be released, but told them he would grant a commutation later. This is the first word of encouragement either Mrs. Hartmann or Miss Lehmann has received from the Governor during their months of hard work in behalf of the husband of one and the father of the other.

RAILWAY REDUCES FARE.

Lehigh Valley System Establishes 2 1-2 Cent Basis.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—It was announced today that, to take effect Nov. 1, or as soon thereafter as possible, the maximum rate per mile on the Lehigh Valley Railroad system will be on the basis of 2½ cents.

GAVE MATCH, WAS SHOT.

Blood poisoning has complicated the condition of Novey Trost of 1456A Francis street, who says he was shot by a negro to whom he gave a match at Jefferson avenue and Morgan street. The police doubt his story of the shooting.

Trost says when the negro called him a liar he knocked him down and ran, and that the negro fired after him, wounding him in the right thigh.

CONCEALED EARNINGS.

H. Clay Pierce of the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. explains the 700 per cent profit of his company to which he breezily confessed in court on the ground that the stock of the company is not watered. According to the statement supplied the Post-Dispatch the company does a $16,000,000 business on $400,000 capital.

In direct contrast with the policy of the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. is that of the public service corporations and most of the great trusts, which conceal their profits under enormous capitalizations. The earnings of the companies are absorbed by repeated issues of stocks and bonds. Instead of receiving large dividends on a small issue of stock the owners of these properties put their profits into vast issues of stocks and bonds. The bonds bear a small rate of interest and the stocks pay little or no dividends. The common stock is often not permitted to pay dividends but the capitalization is increased when the earnings justify the payment of dividends.

The interesting statement was made in the article concerning the profits of the Waters-Pierce company that if the United Railways stock contained no water its profits would equal 30 per cent on the capital invested. The present capital is $106,000,000 and its gross earnings last year were $8,460,016.01, a condition in marked contrast with that of the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. The United Railways earn great profits on the invested capital, but pay modest interest and dividends on millions of bonds and preferred stock and no dividends on millions more of common stock.

The public is thus deceived concerning the earnings and actual value of these great public service and trust corporations. Their managers and owners point to their lack of dividends as an evidence of poverty when as a matter of fact vast profits are being realized. This is one of the greatest abuses of monopoly—the only one apparently of which the Standard Oil and its subsidiary companies are not guilty.

Congressman Sherman of New York thinks Gompers helped Littlefield in Maine. If this is true, what was it that pulled down his majority to the danger point? It may be very embarrassing to the Republicans to answer this question honestly.

WATCH THE HAVANA NEWS.

Is Havana going to be the storm center of American politics for the next two years?

Are rate regulation, Government ownership, law enforcement, trusts, Rooseveltism, Bryanism and all the other "urgent" issues going to be shoved aside for a revived expansion and annexation question?

Probably not, but stranger things have happened in American politics. A disturbance over yonder will generally divert the attention of the American people from conditions at home. We indulge the hope that the people will not be diverted from American principles and a true sense of honor and justice by the ruction.

Some people will be surprised to learn that the lobster per capita for this country is less than 1¼.

AN EAST KENTUCKY REMEDY.

The habits of Kentucky and Ohio are divided into three parts. The division for both states was announced by Dr. Rurick N. Roark of the Eastern Kentucky Normal School at Cleveland, O. All habits are either organic, individual or racial, but it seems that in a given case they may be all three at once.

The given case specially considered by Dr. Roark was the kissing habit, which, except under the severest limitations, he disapproves. He thinks it may be indulged safely, however, if a carbolic atomizer is used immediately afterwards.

It appears that the habit is partly organic and partly racial before it becomes individual. When King Edward of England and Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany met the other day and kissed each other on both cheeks, it was an individual survival of a race habit men once had of kissing each other warmly on meeting to show such love as only kings are now supposed to feel for each other. But in Kentucky or Ohio any two males seen kissing each other in public would be thought disgusting, whether they were kings or not.

This shows that race habits may change finally. The views of Dr. Roark on the survival of the organic and race habit of kissing in general are prevalent already in Eastern Kentucky to such an extent that such leading families as the Pargisses and Hargisses will not allow osculation to take place across family lines.

The heads of both these families agree with Dr. Roark in everything except the remedy. But if a young woman, they would put no faith in carbolic atomizers as a remedy.

If Ohio wants the genuine East Kentucky remedy in cases of this kind, it will reject the atomizer and try the shotgun at 40 yards and the Winchester at longer ranges.

Street Commissioner Valliant is right. The city should pay for street sprinkling out of the general revenues as it pays for street cleaning. The present method of assessing property owners for sprinkling was a vast improvement over the old private contract method by which only parts of streets were sprinkled at high cost, but we have outgrown the special tax. Municipal street sprinkling would be cheaper and would do away with the annoyance of the special tax.

HOME BENEVOLENT ASSIMILATORS.

The evidence in the trial of the peonage cases at Cape Girardeau leaves little room to doubt that we have had in Missouri the beginning of recrudescence towards the official methods of benevolent assimilation in the Philippines.

It seems that under this attempt to adapt Colonial methods in Missouri, men who volunteered to "take up the White Man's burden," made benevolent advances to a large number of those they secretly intended to treat as "half devil and half child."

When these benevolent advances succeeded in their purpose, the victims were regulated as concentrados, with loaded guns, which were found necessary in teaching them habits of civilized industry. Concentrados who sought to escape this sort of civilization were shot at, and if captured whipped, not for any cruel purpose, of course, but with great and benevolent grief that it was found necessary to shoot or whip them in a paternal way in order to assimilate them.

This sort of thing shows the great difficulty we are likely to have in confining peonage as a feature is of benevolent assimilation to "the colonies." But in Missouri it must be resisted. Admirers of the Philippine system who attempt to introduce it in Missouri, should be made to understand that the Philippines, not Missouri, are the place for benevolent assimilators. But first they should be made acquainted with the full significance of the Missouri Penitentiary as a corollary of the constitution, where the constitution follows the flag.

The increased Postoffice receipts put the stamp of genuine growth on St. Louis.

WHAT IS A GENTLEMAN?

In his address to graduating midshipmen at Annapolis Secretary Bonaparte reminded them that theirs is a profession of a gentleman. "Now what is a 'gentleman?'" he asked. "As used in the laws and regulations governing our navy," he replied to his own question, "its essential meaning is that you and your brother officers have duties beyond the duties of others; that you have obligations that do not rest on all members of this community; that of you are required a measure of self-control, a readiness for self-sacrifice, a sensitiveness in honor which it might be neither reasonable to expect nor charitable to exact of all your fellow citizens."

A passable definition as applied to "an officer and a gentleman." Military rank can never be all, for the two terms are no more indissolubly wedded than of "a gentleman and a scholar."

Once upon a time only a gentleman possessed a coat of arms. They can now be bought freely, when wealth may be anything but the mark of the gentleman. Some other badge than that of birth, money, education, idleness or achievement is necessary in these days. Conduct is the only safe rule and standard. The brief definition of the Standard Dictionary, "Any respectable, well-behaved man," is fairly comprehensive.

Often the title is most noisily assumed by persons seriously afraid that they will not pass for what they are not. President Roosevelt addresses a popular gathering simply as "Men and Women," leaving aside the usual politician's silly flattery that he can speak only to "Ladies and Gentlemen" when he wants votes. After all, what more straightforward, unpretentious form of address can there be? It implies perfect equality. To ask—

"When Adam delved and Eve span,
Who was then the gentleman?"

is to raise class distinctions at once.

President Eliot gave a fine description of a gentleman when he said that he should be gentle of speech, quiet of demeanor, a serene person who does not bluster or bustle or hurry or vociferate, considerate especially toward those in any way in his power and scrupulously careful not to hurt any one weaker than himself. The democratic gentleman, he insisted, "must be a power, a worker, a disinterested laborer in the service of others; not a weakling or a pleasure-seeker, but a strong and hard-working man."

Uncle Joe Cannon denies his presidential bee. Uncle Joe is a hummer.

HERESY AND SCHISM.

Although his candidate was beaten for the party nomination for Governor of Wisconsin, Senator La Follette does not give up the fight for boss-ship.

It is announced that at the coming convention, called to register the primary nomination and formulate a platform, he will make "demands." He will demand that Robert M. La Follette be indorsed without qualification; that Senator Spooner be ignored; that men who have participated in stalwart, that is, Spooner councils, shall not be placed on the State Committee; that a recall bill be presented to the Legislature authorizing constituencies to recall, that is, demand the retirement of public servants who do not keep their pledges; that further restraints be put upon public service corporations.

It is an ambitious program. So far as his principles, political work and achievement are concerned, La Follette appears to have his party with him. But the primary demonstrated that the Republicans resented his pretensions as a boss and dictator.

The people want leaders, not bosses. That fact grows clearer day by day in both parties. As a leader the Wisconsin Republicans accept and follow La Follette. As a boss they will have none of him.

It may be observed, by the way, that the Republican party is not free from dissensions. In Wisconsin, Iowa, Ohio and Pennsylvania heresy and schism torment the orthodox. Everywhere there is [illegible] the old parties.

JOYOUS JINGLES

The Fall of a Standpatter.

Ma thought we ought to have reform,
but pa kept always standin' pat;
Most every night they'd have a storm
concernin' this or mebby that;
Ma thought that pa should take a brace and make a strike for better pay Because most everything we bought kept gettin' higher every day;
She said he made her sad because he dassent say his soul's his own
For fear he'd get discharged, but pa's fer leavin' well enough alone.

When any of the neighbors bought a new piano or a chair
'Cause they're in bizness fer themselves and get the cash and needn't care,
Ma thought we'd ought to have reform and said that things were goin' wrong.
And went fer pa because we seemed to fall back further right along;
But pa he'd hardly say a word, except when in a sorry tone,
He'd answer that it's always best to just let well enough alone.

The Browns, who lived across the street and put on style because they run
A leather store, looked down on us; they'd carriages and we had none;
But when they got an auto, too, it seemed to make ma nearly wild,
And, gee, the way she went fer pa that night, when he got home!
He smiled
A kind of sickly smile and said you couldn't get blood from a stone,
And ended up by standin' pat and lettin' well enough alone.

Ma called him things I'd hate to have a person get to callin' me;
She mentioned other men she might of married, too, and, jim-mun-nee!
First thing you know, pa up and grabbed his umber-ella and his hat
And left her shoutin' fer reform, while he skedaddled, standin'
pat,
And, somehow, as he rushed away and ma began to sort of moan
I wondered why it was that folks would not let well enough alone.

I'd been asleep and havin' dreams,
when suddenly I got awake
To hear ma screamin' awful screams —pa he'd come back home fer my sake.
He kicked the door till ma grabbed up the water pitcher and let go—
I heard the splutter and the splash where pa was standin' pat below!—
We've come to live at grandpa's now, and have no home to call our own;
It's sad that some folks can't learn how to just let well enough alone.

THE JARR FAMILY.

By Roy L. McCardell.

"I DON'T s[illegible] where the money goes," said Mrs. Jarr, retrospectively. "I had $20 yesterday, and now I on[illegible] have $4.48."

"Why don't you keep a book of household expenses?" asked Mr. Jarr. Something should have told him he was walking right into trouble. But something didn't.

"You always are talking that to me!" flashed Mrs. Jarr. "Do you think I steal the money?"

"Now don't be silly, Clara, my love," said Mr. Jarr soothingly. "You know I don't mean anything of the sort. But think how much better it would be. This happy - go - lucky style of running the house leads us into little extravagances"——

"Extravagances!" exclaimed Mrs. Jarr. "Who is the extravagant one in this house? Why, you waste more money— don't know how you spend it, or who you spend it on, and I suppose it is wisest not to inquire unless I wish to learn things that would mean an end of all between us!"

"What do you mean, woman?" shouted Mr. Jarr. "By George, I am ashamed to meet a friend because I keep myself so poor on account of a foolish wife and an extravagant one, that I can't even ask him to have a glass of beer! A pretty reputation I have as a tightwad abroad."

"Yes, and as a brute and a story-teller at home!" retorted Mrs. Jarr. "Why do you endeavor to impose on me that way? I know how you get out and waste your money! You drink and gamble it up, and instead of trying to reform you want to pinch me more and more in this house!

"I suppose you would deny your poor children what they eat and wear! Let them starve, let them go in rags, so their worthless father can waste every cent he has drinking and gambling!"

"Drinking and gambling?" ventured the astounded Mr. Jarr.

"O, yes, I know your guilty secret. I wouldn't have said a word for the sake of peace, but when I see how you are going to ruin and neglect your family I will speak up. I know what is going on, Mr. Jarr!"

"What do you know that's going on?" growled Mr. Jarr.

"Never mind, we won't discuss it!" sobbed Mrs. Jarr, "but any Judge would give me a divorce, I know, because Mr. Rangle told Mrs. Rangle, and she told me, that your friend McCutcheon always beats you playing penuchle!"

"Give me enough to live on and support the children and go and spend all your time and money gambling! I don't care!"

"Ah, stop talking foolish, Clara!" said Mr. Jarr, endeavoring to speak calmly. "Now, here is the whole thing: You complained yourself that you didn't see how your money went, and I simply suggested that you keep a book of household expenses. Then you can see how it goes and know how to provide"——

"I know how to provide!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "If you only knew how to provide! Or if you only did provide, instead of giving me a dollar now and then when you couldn't help yourself, and wasting the rest"——

"Now, listen," interposed Mr. Jarr; "don't let us get away from the matter we are discussing by abusing each other. Every business house has to keep books and know what its income and outlay is, and no family can prosper unless it knows how its stands"——

"You keep books, Mr. Jarr, if you regard your wife as you regard a dishonest clerk. I know how we stand. I know that we are in debt because you do not give me half enough to run this house! I know I do the best I can! I know I don't waste a cent! And I know I have enough to do without keeping a book. And I won't!

"Why don't you run the house if you think I waste your money? You go ahead and try it! You look after the servant and the children, and the tradesmen, and shop and slave and worry and fret to make one dollar do the work of five, and then I'll sneer at you and tell you if you kept books you'd have plenty of money!"

"O, gosh blame it! Don't talk to me!" exclaimed Mr. Jarr, jumping up. "You are like all the rest of the women that drive a man crazy! What do I care if you keep books or not? All I ask you is to keep your temper, but you won't! You never will!"

"I won't let you walk over me, Edward Jarr!" replied the wife. "I will never handle another cent of yours as long as I live! You stay home and pay the bills today, and for some things I ordered C. O. D., and"——

"I won't!" shouted Mr. Jarr. "Here's $20 I had to give you. I don't begrudge you anything, and you know it!"

"Who ever said you did?" asked Mrs. Jarr. "You are one of the best men in the world, and I don't see why you won't let me economize a little. I'm sure the house is run wasteful, Edward."

"It is not; everything has gone up. You need more money, and you shall [illegible] it!" said Mr. Jarr. And they went serenely about their affairs.

Poor Edgar.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In all probability our friend Edgar is what we call an "angel," namely, one with few brains, but plenty of money. Consequently we do not deem it a necessity to thank him for his company as he would undoubtedly be too dense to appreciate it if we did, and also being of the kind that "will call" again whether invited or not, what's the use of taking the trouble? There must be some excuse or surely one of these "16 or 15" would have extended the invitation" to call again. Back to the mines for Edgar. MARGUERITE.

A Temperate Statement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Begging space in your widely read journal to reply to a communication in today's paper, signed "Stranger," I will submit a few facts and figures that will prove the absurdity of his statements: A stone-front seven-room house, such as Stranger describes, if in even a middle class section of Chicago, must have cost hardly less than $10,000. If a flat, with seven rooms up and downstairs, the cost would be, to build, over $12,000, including ground. The income, gross, of such a flat at $60 per month would be $720 per annum. From this income must be deducted taxes, say $100; water, $25; coal, $50; janitor, $75; repairs and vacancies, per cent of gross income, $35; total, $285, leaving a net of $440, which is less than 4½ per cent on $10,000. An apartment house may be estimated on the same basis of income and outgo. The house which "Stranger" now occupies at $55 per month, in St. Louis, which he rightly claims is an extortionate rental, brings a gross income of $110 per month, assuming there are up and downstairs apartments. If he is paying such a price for four rooms it is evident that he is paying for locality and not for house. I own a six apartment house in a good neighborhood, for which the rent is $30 each per month, including janitor service, hot water all the year round, gas in halls, steam heat for seven months, and perfect repairs maintained. The building cost $18,000 to erect, and the ground, 104 feet front by 125 feet deep, is worth $50 per foot. Cost of maintenance is $700 per year. It is true, the apartments are always rented, but the net income, $1460, is only six and one-half per cent on the investment. The statement made to "Stranger" of 12 per cent net income on an apartment house for eight families at a rental of $30 each is such a manifest absurdity as scarcely merits the notice of a contradiction. The rent question in St. Louis finds its reason d'etre in the fact that there is a craze to settle in the West End and rents are accordingly estimated on the basis of West End prices. Rational distribution is the sensible solution. Rents in St. Louis are cheap anywhere except in one section, while there are several neighborhoods greatly to be preferred for every reason except that of a desire to by very select. OLD RESIDENT.

COL. TODHUNTER

Since Bryan Hedged He Feels All Tangled Up.

By Ripley D. Saunders.

"WELL, suh," said Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter, dubiously, "enthusiastic as I was at the Coliseum last Tuesday night, when Col. William Jennings Bryan delivered his immortal message to the Democrats of Missouri, I'll be dadblamed if I know now whether I'm coming out of the gate or going in on the paramount issue as Col. Bryan himself declares it, suh.

"That issue, suh, is Government ownership of railroads, and personally I'm in favor of it from A to Izzard, ever since the railroads killed that heifer of mine down in Bourbon Center, Ky., suh, refusing to pay me more'n three times what it was worth, and then added insult to injury, suh, by shutting down on free passes to Missouri politicians, suh. Dog my cats if I'm willing to stand for that sort of treatment, suh—and when Col. Bryan declared for Government ownership of railroads in his great New York speech, I just got up on my hind legs and howled my indorsement—that is, I did it when I read his speech in the prison cell where I'd been immured by the octopus because I celebrated prematurely in that mighty metropolis of a mighty nation, suh.

"But now, suh, I'm as tangled up as a one-eyed man at a three-ring circus—and it's Col. Bryan himself who's done the tangling, suh. Here, suh, just after I'd got my mouth set to holler for the new paramount issue till the cows come home, Col. Bryan comes out and says it ain't no issue at all unless the Democratic party says it's an issue, and that he can't call it an issue until he knows what the Democratic voters think about it, suh. What's the Democratic party got to do with it, suh, if Col. Bryan is the man he used to be, and what difference does it make what the Democratic voters think about it if Col. Bryan thinks it's all right? Ain't he the whole shooting match in the two years' presidential campaign now just opened, suh?

"And that ain't the worst of it, either, suh. The saddest feature of the whole dadfrazzled bungle now is that Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter's own oratorical campaign throughout the length and breadth of imperial Missouri is likely to be knocked into a cocked hat, suh. What in the Joe blazes and Sam Taylor am I going to talk about when I take the stump, suh, if I can't jab the octopus in the solar plexus with a stentorian demand for Government ownership of railroads, suh? Have I got to wait till I know what the Democratic party in convention assembled thinks of Col. Bryan's own pet issue, suh? Have I got to dilly-dally around behind the door until Democratic voters tell me what they think of it, suh? If I have, suh, I tell you right now that Missouri is going to miss one of the grandest oratorical treats possible to the human race in this twentieth century of our'n, suh, because Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter is temperamentally incapable of hedging, suh, and he's got to talk right out from the shoulder or forever after hold his peace, suh.

"And if I hold my peace now, suh, it'll be equal to muzzling Demosthenes himself in the full flow of his eloquence, a tragedy, suh, calculated to make the angels weep. I pause to hear from Col. Bryan, suh—I want my peerless leader to say whether the voice of Col. Todhunter shall be mute at such a moment. That pause, suh, is pregnant with significance to the Democratic cause, suh."

A FEW CHOICE STORIES

Kentucky's Powerful Parson.

Senator "Joe" Blackburn of Kentucky tells of a good old Methodist minister in his State in the pioneer days who was a considerable scrapper.

"One day," says the Senator, "after the parson had found it necessary to administer fistic punishment to several young toughs who persisted in disturbing the meeting at one of the churches he served, one of his flock, noted as being something of a hard hitter himself, got up in meeting and said:

"'It is a solemn duty of this here congregation to stand by Parson Johnson. He does not seek trouble, but he will not show the white feather when trouble is forced in his way. I believe that, unrestrained by divine grace, Parson Johnson can whip any man in Kentucky. The Lord is with him. Let us pray.'"

Filling a Large Order.

Dr. Henry Mitchell, secretary of the New Jersey State Board of Health, tells the following:

"A Trenton butcher named Ludwig was continually being robbed of meat, poultry and sausages by a large black tomcat belonging to a next-door neighbor.

Ludwig suffered these thefts a long time. Finally his temper got the best of him, and he killed the cat with a poisoned fish.

"The cat's owner the next morning found his large black cat lying dead before his door. He knew at once who had done the killing, and with a low, bitter oath he took the dead cat by the tail and went indoors. He had already decided on the revenge he would take.

"Butcher Ludwig had happened to advertise for the week a markdown sale of sausage. The advertisement took well, and that night his shop was thronged with sausage buyers.

"Suddenly, when the crowd was thickest, the next-door neighbor elbowed his way through the people and threw upon the chopping block the dead body of the huge black cat.

"'There you are, Mr. Ludwig,' he said. 'That makes No. 35. I'll bring the 15 others when you're not so busy.'"

Lion at Home, Lamb Abroad.

George Ade, the brilliant humorist, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by a woman's club.

In the course of his after-dinner speech Mr. Ade said:

"And then there is another kind of man who is a raging, roaring lion at home, and abroad so meek and mild that you feel sorry for him.

"I was lunching one day in a crowded restaurant. A man and his little son sat at a table near me. They sat there nearly an hour and still their order was not taken.

"The boy twisted and squirmed. The father tried to soothe him. Then I saw the little fellow look up in a surprised way and I heard him say:

"'Say, father, how is it you don't kick up a great big fuss, the same as you do at home?'"

Saving His Cigars.

Although no fangs in me you'll spy.
I have a fearful, blood-red tongue,
Although no mouth have I.

When I am kept within close bounds
I'm man's most useful slave;
But I destroy all that he has
When, free, uncaged I rave.

Yet when I've eaten all that's nigh—

Guess, you clever ones, what am I?
Answer—Fire.

A Child's Sermon.

On one occasion Harry and Eddie, two little brothers, took it into their heads to have church. As Harry was the older of the two, he said, "I'll be the preacher and preach you a sermon." "Well," said Eddie, "and I'll be the people." And so Harry began by announcing his text. "My brethren, my text today is 'Be kind.' There are some little texts in the Bible for little children, and this is one of them.

"Firstly—Be kind to father. Don't bother him when he's busy. Don't make a noise when his head aches. Father has to work hard and earn money.

"Secondly—Be kind to mother. Don't make her tell you several times to do the same thing. My brethren, we ought to mind right off.

"Thirdly—Be kind to Mary. She is small and lame and can't talk plain.

"Finally, my brethren, be kind to the cat. Amen."

THE SWISS ARMY

The Swiss army is one of the most remarkable of her political institutions. It is the ideal toward which the common people of every European country, weighed down with taxation to support huge standing armies, turn with longing and hope.

According to the Arena the Swiss system of militia saves millions of money to the taxpayers and gives years of freedom from military service to the so'diers.

Practically all Swiss serve from the age of 20 to 50 in the militia and reserves. The raw recruits go into schools, the infantry for 45 days, the cavalry for 80 days.

After this the cavalry serves 16 days each year and the infantry and artillery 14 days each every other year. The reserves serve only five or six days every four years. The officers, of course, are carefully trained in good schools for a period of years.

This short service would be insufficient were it not preceded and supplemented by military training for boys in school and rifle practice every year by practically all Swiss citizens.

Target shooting is the national sport, and in accordance with the law a place for target practice must be supplied by every town in the country. As an encouragement prizes of all sorts are offered by the national Government.

Thus little Switzerland, with a population of less than 3,000,000 of people, has an army of 337,000 of the most martial soldiers of Europe—armed, equipped and ready to take the field at a moment's notice.

A Compromise.

Letter From Leading Author

Fred Wade Wolf, whose new and intensely interesting book, "Battles of Life," is attracting such wide attention from press and pulpit, has recently recovered from a severe attack of muscular rheumatism, and tells a remarkable story of his experience.

"It was while traveling," said Mr. Wolf, "that I was stricken with a very severe case of muscular rheumatism, which so disabled me that I found it difficult to hobble about the hotel where I was stopping."

"The strain of constant travel had proved too much for me, and my nervous system became badly deranged. My hands began to stiffen and every joint in my body was sore."

"Doctors could not relieve me and I was about to despair and go to a hospital when a friend advised me to try Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief. I did so, and from the very first I began to improve. Every unfavorable symptom had disappeared in a very short time. I am now well and actively engaged in my profession, and these wonderful remedies did it. They have been worth a thousand dollars to me, for I certainly would not take that sum for the benefit I received."

Cooper's New Discovery is the medicine that has been causing such a tumult during the past year wherever introduced by L. T. Cooper, the young philanthropist. Cooper's Quick Relief is the remarkable liniment sold by Mr. Cooper in connection with the New Discovery.

The Cooper preparations are sold in this city by the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., who secured the agency for them some time ago. They are more talked of today than any proprietary remedies ever introduced in the United States.

IF EVERY merchant had the unbounded faith in the character of his merchandise that we have in ours, you could trade anywhere with a feeling of perfect security. But it is an unfortunate fact that the newspapers are crowded with advertisements which, although they shout "dependable values" and "unparalleled merchandise," etc., offer you absolutely no proof of their good faith. In these days of strenuous competition in the retail business, the people want something more than mere claims of superiority. They want—and they are certainly entitled to—ironclad insurance against loss, in case the clothes they purchase are in any way faithless to the representations of the merchant who sells them. We offer you that protection with all our hearts. The makers of the clothing we sell stand back of us with their absolute guarantee—you know of them—heard of them often. EVANS COMPLAINS OF LAND POLICE Says Maine Officials Mistreated Bluejackets—Asks for Men's Protection.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Rear Admiral Evans, in command of the Atlantic fleet, has notified the Secretary of the Navy that, except when otherwise instructed by the department he would not permit the ships under his command again to visit Portland, Me., because the enlisted men of his fleet had been clubbed by the police and had been discriminated against by the theater and hotel keepers when they appeared in their uniforms.

Insult was added to injury by the fact that when these alleged indignities were heaped upon the bluejackets, the Iowa, the Indiana, and the second torpedo flotilla were visiting Portland at the suggestion of the residents of Maine.

"These men," reports Admiral Evans, referring to sailors of the Indiana, "who were without a doubt, perfectly sober and going in the direction of the wharf at which the ship's boats landed, were clubbed and kicked and knocked down by these police. A civilian, in the presence of the police, drew a revolver and threatened them.

"Nothing but commendation can be said of these bluejackets for their moderation in submitting to these indignities without creating trouble, for they outnumbered the police, and without a doubt they could have taken them in charge.

"Another indignity to which these liberty men were obliged to submit took place at a skating rink. Tickets were sold to them to enter the skating rink on Peck's Island, and then skates were refused to them on the ground that they were dressed in seamen's uniform.

Patriotism Lacking.

"I presume the owners or managers of amusement are not compelled to sell tickets, but it seems a sad comment on the patriotism of the citizens of Portland to say that they objected sitting beside sober, honest and industrious men who are in a profession among the most honorable of any in the world.

"I have to ask if legal proceedings cannot be undertaken by the United States District Attorney in Maine against the policeman who so brutally treated the men and the civilian who drew a revolver on them.

"I have to ask, also, if not incompatible with the views of the department that such publicity be given to this incident as may tend to bring about a change in the sentiment of the people in order that more consideration may be shown to the men of the naval service when they are on shore."

Secretary Bonaparte is not sure that the Civil Rights Act or such part of it as has not been declared unconstitutional would meet the conditions that now exist. The Secretary believes that a law can be passed which will protect the men of the navy and army against such treatment.

The enlisted men, in their statement to the commanding officer, say that while they were on the streets of Portland they were repeatedly ordered to move on, although they were simply standing on the street in conversation. Those who were present when the incident referred to by Admiral Evans occurred say that the policemen ordered them to move on, but without giving the party time to move the police started to club and kick those in the rear and that they drove them about two blocks in this manner.

TARIFF AND TRUSTS.

Republican Speaker Says Standard Oil Has No Protection.

The campaign of Henry S. Caulfield, Republican, for Congress from the Eleventh District, was formally opened at a rally Thursday night in Haupt's Hall, Easton and Union avenues. Charles Nagel, the principal speaker, devoted considerable of his address to an assault upon Bryan's claim that abolishment of the tariff is the remedy for the trust evil.

He said Standard Oil, one of the biggest trusts, does not enjoy the protection of the tariff by one cent. He added:

"I can understand why the schedule must be modified. I am not afraid of such a question as that. Is it not true that if the tariff were repealed at this time it would create consternation in this country? Bryan says this tariff has resulted in unparalleled wealth in this country. The wealth has resulted in what we call trusts, and the trusts are wrong. Therefore, to get rid of the trusts we must destroy wealth, so that we will have nothing to fight about. The Republican party says the commerce of this country has been built up under tariff protection, and that we are absolutely committed to it. While pursuing our present course we are not engaged in the work of destruction."

Bible Class Has Trolley Ride.

The special Suburban car engaged by the Junior Bible Class of the First M. E. Sunday-school of Belleville for a trolley ride to St. Louis Thursday night proved too small, although it had a seating capacity of 75. The overflow rode on regular cars. One hundred and ten members of the class made the journey to St. Louis at the invitation of Class No. 2 of the Lafayette Park M. E. Sunday-school, Lafayette and Missouri avenues, and were entertained at the church. Addresses of welcome were delivered by G. W. Hall, the superintendent, and Mr. Pickett, the president of Class No. 2, and there was a musical program by members of the class, after which refreshments were served. The Lafayette Park class, the organization of which was suggested by the success of the Belleville class, will visit the Belleville class in October.

Willing to Sell Land for Park.

Miss Mary Moran of 3956 Sullivan avenue denies the assertion of city officials that she holds at too high a price her lot, which forms part of a North St. Louis tract which the city wants to buy for a park.

"I am heartily in favor of selling my lot at 2424 Garrison avenue for park purposes," she said Thursday. "I have never been approached by a representative of the city regarding its purchase."

City officials point out that at present they have no authority to approach individual owners and that they are receiving bids for big tracts which compels them to act only through owners of big tracts.

Mine Owner Alleges Lessees Haven't Controlled Fire.

Charged with having made no effort in six months to check a mine fire that has been burning two years, the Southern Coal and Mining Co., a $2,000,000 corporation formed a few months ago, will have to show cause, in Justice Wangelin's court at Belleville, why it should not vacate the Harmony mine on the Rock road.

Suit was instituted by Attorney A. B. Ogle of Belleville, owner of the mine, to compel the lessees to get out of the mine. He alleges that the mine has not been operated since the beginning of the coal strike, April 1, and that the company has allowed a fire, for eight months under control, to become unmanageable, thus cutting off his royalties.

The fire began in the mine in 1904 and burned unchecked until the Southern Coal and Mining Co. assumed the lease. That company succeeded in checking the blaze and walling it in. After the strike of the miners last April the fire broke out again. Attorney Ogle also alleges that the company is seeking to abandon the mine and that it has no right to do so until all the coal has been taken out.

UPWARD TREND IN WHEAT FUTURES

Prices Still Rising on General Bull News—Other Grains Lower.

Wheat in the local market opened strong today, under the influence of the small Argentine shipments, higher cables and the higher curb market in Minneapolis. Prices were steady at the opening and in the early trading, where Chicago prices showed a disposition to advance the local market followed. Early in the day prices were quoted at an advance ⅛@⅛c higher than last night's close. There was considerable selling on the advance and the market hesitated, but was supported by the good short demand. The market was dominated considerably by the fluctuations in Minneapolis.

Corn opened about unchanged and prices rather sagged under the heavy offering. There were no particular features in corn, prices being unchanged for December option and slightly lower for May.

Oats were weak and lower at the opening. It was mainly a scalpers' market in oats and as little demand existed prices declined slightly under the heavy offerings.

December wheat opened ¼@⅜c higher at 70⅞@71c and advanced to 71⅛c; May option opened ⅛c higher at 75c, went as high as 75¼c and dropped again to 75⅛c.

December corn was dull and unchanged at 40⅝c. May option opened ⅛c lower at offerings at 41⅝c, with bids at that figure later.

December oats opened ⅛c lower at 32⅝c, and went as low as 32⅝c. May opened ⅛c lower at 34¾c, and dropped to 34⅝c asked.

Local wheat receipts were 70,000 bu, against 81,000 bu last year.

Crushed Body That of Miner.

The body of the man who was found in East St. Louis near the Southern Railway roundhouse Thursday by H. F. Depew of 3831 Botanical avenue, St. Louis, has been identified by J. D. Stapleton, proprietor of a lunch stand at 340 East Broadway, East St. Louis, as that of Robert Huron, 55 years old, a coal miner of Murphysboro, Ill. William Garvey, who has a saloon at 500 South Main street, says Huron was in his place Wednesday. He was last seen late Wednesday afternoon, talking to a negro. His skull was crushed by an iron fish plate, which is now in the possession of the police. The body is at the Walsh Morgue, where an inquest will be held Friday. Huron's brother-in-law, who lives two miles from Murphysboro, has been notified.

Prominent Grain Man Dead.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 14.—M. E. Duff, a well known grain dealer with interests in Omaha, Kansas City, and other western markets, died this morning, at his home in Nebraska City, Neb. He was 69 years old and had lived in Nebraska City for 25 years.

Wants Damages for Arrest.

Ellroy V. Selleck filed suit in the Circuit Court Friday against Mary J. Smith, R. Lee Langdeau and Ida Langdeau for $10,000 damages. He alleges that on July 6, 1905, they conspired to separate his wife and himself, and in furtherance of that conspiracy Mary Smith and R. Lee Langdeau encouraged Ida Langdeau to swear out a warrant charging him with disturbing the peace. He also brought suit Friday against Mary J. Smith for $10,000 damages on account of remarks which he alleges she has made about him.

The season doesn't end with summer. The weather is most delightful. The country is most beautiful in autumn. Fishing is good, and there will soon be fine hunting.

If you would enjoy it most thoroughly and with the least expense, get a little cottage for a hunting lodge of your own. There are dozens of good places along the Frisco Line on the banks of the Meramec, Gasconade, Big Piney and other streams.

Take a trip over the line Saturday and investigate it. The service is convenient and the rates are cheap.

Fisherman's Special Saturday Afternoon

Leaves St. Louis Union Station at 2:45 p. m. and Tower Grove at 2:55 p. m. every Saturday in September and stops at all resorts between St. Louis and Jerome. Round-trip week-end tickets are sold for this train at greatly reduced rates and are good returning on regular trains Sunday and Monday, also on special train Sunday evening.

STOCKS OPEN SMALL ADVANCE

Harriman's Union Pacific 1-4 Higher on Ex-Dividend of 5 Per Cent.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The opening prices of stocks on the New York exchange Friday was ¼ to ¾ above parity on most of the standard rail issues and about parity for the industrials, except Amalgamated Copper, which was ½ point higher and Steel common ¼ higher.

Pennsylvania and allied lines, omitting those formerly controlled by Pennsylvania company, were irregular and slightly lower.

Missouri Pacific opened ⅜ higher, Rock Island ⅛ higher and Erie ½ higher, all in good demand.

The general expectation is for an active, advancing market.

Baltimore & Ohio and Reading, the Coalers, with which Pennsylvania recently parted with control by sales of stock to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., were the active features of the market during the forenoon; London also purchased 30,000 shares each of these stocks and about the same amount of Southern Pacific, but for some reason not understood, sold Union Pacific, which is ex-dividend Friday, and selling slowly at a shade below the opening of 189.

St. Paul has been active at home and sold up 2 points over the opening of 176⅜ during the forenoon. Erie is strong and a point higher at noon and Missouri Pacific is active at short fluctuations around the opening of 99. Copper advanced to 113¾ at noon. Steel common had no definite fluctuation on the opening of 46⅝.

Baltimore & Ohio advanced from the opening of 119⅝ to 121⅛ at noon under strong selling.

The phenomenal action of Reading and B. & O. today is the talk of the exchange. Reading, following the resignation of Vice-President Thayer of Pennsylvania, has gone up to a new high point, being sold at 146½ the first hour of the afternoon. This is the great Pennsylvania State coal railroad that ten days ago passed from the control of the Pennsylvania company, along with B. & O., the report at the time being that Pennsylvania intended letting go of and reorganizing the coal properties owned by its controlled and owned lines. It is believed Reading will sell at 150 before the close.

There has been a big crowd of brokers in Reading all day and large buying orders have been put in the stock from many sources. One broker said every one seemed to want to buy Reading. The story is general that some plan for the separation of coal lands from railroad companies has been adopted.

E. St. Louis News

The St. Louis National Livestock Exchange will hold its annual election of officers at the National Stockyards Oct. 27.

Thomas Firmer, a clerk at the Cotton Oil plant in Venice, was crushed between moving cars while attempting to affix a seal to one of the cars Thursday. Several ribs were broken and his right arm was fractured. He was brought to St. Mary's Hospital.

The Retail Clerks' Association will give a carnival at Lincoln Park from Sept. 16 to 23.

For the second time within two weeks, Louis Doulthen, a farmer of East Carondelet, has been confined in St. Mary's Hospital. He left the hospital a week ago, after recovering from an attack of malaria. Wednesday, while he was driving a wagon, his team became frightened and ran away. He was thrown under the wheels and badly crushed. He was again brought to St. Mary's Hospital.

Joseph Vorris, a saloon keeper of Fifth street and Illinois avenue, was fined $20 and costs Thursday by Justice Brady on a charge of violating the Sunday closing law.

Maggie Jurick, 18 years old, caught her right hand in the machinery while at work at the Grant Chemical Co.'s plant Wednesday, and will probably lose two fingers. She was taken to her home at Sixth street and Missouri av.

The Southeastern Hotel, on Front street, near the Baltimore & Ohio freight office, was damaged by fire which originated in the basement at 9:30 a. m. Thursday. The inside of the building and the contents are a total loss. The building was a three-story structure and one of the oldest buildings in East St. Louis. It is the property of the Wiggins Ferry Co. The loss is estimated at $3000.

The body of a man found near the Southern Railway roundhouse Thursday morning, apparently murdered, has not been identified. Deputy Coroner Hertel will hold an inquest Friday. The body will be held at Walsh's morgue for a short time.

John Johnson of 517 North Twenty-eighth street was seriously cut about the chin and neck by a bursting emery wheel while working at the Elliott frog and switch works Thursday afternoon. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

William Walters, 27 years old, of 438 Columbia place, fell between cars and his left leg was crushed, while at work as a switchman for the Vandalia Railroad Thursday. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where his leg was amputated near the knee.

William Erlinger, 32 years old, died Thursday at the Anna Insane Asylum. In a fall nine years ago he was injured about the head. He is a brother of Policeman Albert Erlinger of East St. Louis. The body arrived in East St. Louis Friday morning and the funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday to the French Village Cemetery.

Joseph Beatty, 40 years old, died Friday morning at St. Mary's Hospital from injuries received Wednesday night when he fell from the sidewalk into the cellar of a new building at Collinsville and Illinois avenues. He was intoxicated, fell on the sidewalk and then rolled under the railing, falling 10 feet to the ground. He had been boarding at the Salvation Army Hotel on Broadway. He was employed as a tamale peddler by A. Hoove of Sixth street and Ohio avenue. The body is being held at the Degan-Doussard morgue while efforts are being made to find relatives. An inquest will be held there Friday night.

The funeral of Theresa Hancel, the 8-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hancel of 1110 Exchange avenue, who died Thursday of meningitis, was held Friday to Calvary Cemetery.

John McTige, a motorman, found a purse containing $160 Thursday, as he was changing the trolley on his car in front of the Live-stock Exchange. He left word at the exchange of the finding of the purse, and when he came back on the next trip, the owner was waiting for his car. The money was returned to the owner, who gave McTige $20 for his kindness.

The body of Ben W. Gere, 30 years old, who died Thursday at St. Mary's Hospital of pneumonia, was sent to Arcola, Ill., Friday for burial.

William Melleville, 60 years old, who was sent to the County Hospital at Belleville Tuesday, died there Thursday. He formerly boarded on St. Clair avenue. He was a policeman in East St. Louis several years ago.

John Cordaz, living on Exchange avenue, was crushed under a box of meat he was loading into a car at the Nelson Morris packing plant Thursday. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

The funeral of John Fleshacker, the 6-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Fleshacker of 2727 Bond avenue, who died Thursday, will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday to SS. Peter and Paul's Cemetery, St. Louis.

KILLED IN A FIRE.

St. Joseph Livery Employe Suffocated in Bed, Burned.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 14.—In an early morning fire, which destroyed the livery stable of Windish & McQuinn today, John L. Hayne, a driver, was suffocated in his bed and his body was almost entirely consumed.

Of the 47 head of horses in the barn, seven were burned to death and 40 were turned loose in the streets. One hundred vehicles were consumed. The property loss is estimated at $28,000.

The buildings were fully insured and the personal property insured for about one-half its value.

The fire, which was of unknown origin, broke out at 5 o'clock this morning. A number of old one-story brick shacks, property of the Tootle estate, located in the business center of the city, Seventh and Edmond streets, were consumed.

The buildings stood on one of the sites considered for the proposed $300,000 hotel.

LOCAL MONEY.

Messrs. George H. Burr & Co., commercial paper brokers, 31 Third National Bank Building, report local money—

Indorsed bills receivable, 4 to 6 months, 6 per cent; high-grade and single-name paper, 4 to 6 months, 6 to 6½ per cent; other names not so well known, 6 to 6½ per cent; call money on good security, 6 per cent. Demand for money good. Bankers report business active.

Francis' advice from New York correspondent. Efforts being made in London by Bank of England, financial institutions and capitalists having control of loanable funds to stop the gold drain from London. The evident purpose is to create an artificial money stringency and so make it difficult for Americans to obtain additional credits in that city, without which they would be unable to go on much longer with their raid on London gold stock. Nevertheless gold engagements to the amount of $1,970,000 were made yesterday, though most of the metal was obtained in Australia, and it is expected much larger engagements will be announced from that quarter.

Call money opened at 5 per cent on the New York Stock Exchange Friday and was quoted down to 4¼ the first hour. It is conceded on New York stock market that another stringency may be looked for about Oct. 1 and that the course of the market and of its patrons are still under control of the money market and its influence.

The $10,000,000 issue of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago mail-order house, will be listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The stock is 7 per cent cumulative. Subscriptions are received in St. Louis by Francis and A. G. Edwards' Sons.

Notice was received of the declaration of the fifty-third regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred stock of the Central Coal and Coke Co., payable Oct. 15, to stockholders of record Sept. 30. Also the payment of the twenty-fourth regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common stock at the same time.

St. Louis bankers look upon the lower call money rates in the East as only temporary and say they would not be surprised to see another whirl in the quotations for demand funds, owing to the prospects of large amounts of money being transferred to San Francisco to pay fire losses. The Southwest is still drawing heavily against reserve balances at this and other points and the movement of currency all day has been quite heavy.

Local clearings for Friday were $8,903,281; for last week, $10,628,185; balance for Friday, $452,734; for last week, $1,018,581; clearings, decrease $1,724,903; balance, decrease $565,650.

DIVIDEND NOTICES.

DIVIDEND NOTICE—Office of Mississippi Valley Trust Co., northwest corner 4th and Pine sts., St. Louis Mo., Sept. 14, 1906—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of this company, held this day, a dividend of $4 per share on the capital stock was declared payable Oct. 1 next, for quarter ending Sept. 30, 1906. Transfer books close Sept. 20, and reopen Oct. 1, 1906.

LOCAL STOCKS FIRM, ACTIVE

Feature of First Session Sales of Commonwealth Trust at Advance.

BANK LIST IS FIRM

Central Coal and Coke Shares Are in Demand, Strong and Steady.

The first session of the local Stock Exchange was fairly active, the feature being the trading in the shares of the Commonwealth Trust Co. at ½ point advance over the last recorded sales.

Shares of Boatmen's Bank were again in the market and sales were made at the same figures at which transactions in that security were noted Thursday.

The sales of stock of the National Candy Co. Friday were of the preferred stock at 100. This figure is not higher than the last recorded sales, the recent sales of the common stock, however, being at a substantially higher figure.

There was an extended inquiry for the securities of St. Louis office buildings, such as was noted during the early days of the week, but there were no transactions at the first session.

MEXICAN REBELS' LEADER DEPORTED

President of Douglas Junta Is Sent From El Paso to Sonora.

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 14.—Abram Jose Salcido, president of the Douglas junta of Mexican revolutionists, has been turned over by United States Immigration Inspector George Webb, at that place, to the Mexican authorities, and taken to Hermosillo, capital of Sonora. He was deported, it is said, on order of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, on the grounds of being an undesirable foreigner.

Gave Police Auto a Chase.

Thomas W. Benoist of 808 Clarkson place was arrested Thursday night for scorching in his automobile. He was going at the rate of 40 miles an hour along Lindell boulevard, it is alleged, and patrolmen in the police automobile had a hard time catching him.

"Here we are again!" exclaimed Beau Brummel, as he joined the promenade in the Autumn.

HOLLY TO APPEAL TO LEGISLATURE

Plumber Who Can't Buy Material Will Ask for Law to Punish Trust.

SUCH LAWS ELSEWHERE

Orders Refused From Men Not Members of Master Plumbers' Association.

W. A. Holly, a registered plumber at 15 South Garrison avenue, who has suffered a bitter experience at the hands of the St. Louis Plumbers' Trust, will request the next Missouri Legislature to enact a law making it a criminal offense to refuse wares to any and all who are able to pay for them.

Mr. Holly is not a member of the Master Plumbers' Association, and therein is the cause of his grievance. Membership in this organization costs $100 and the dues are $1 monthly. In addition, there are other obligations to be met by the Master Plumbers, which make the membership expense a financial hardship to the humbler class of tradesmen.

Mr. Holly is the father of a large family. He was formerly a gas fitter, but was forced to give this up when the gas companies began putting in their own pipes and gas fixtures. He then took up plumbing.

"I did not join the Master Plumbers' organization simply because I could not afford to do so," said Mr. Holly to a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday. "Just why they should ask $100 from each member I can't understand, unless it is for the purpose of having a banquet every year and other costly affairs of that kind. There is only one house in St. Louis, Crane & Co., that will sell me plumbing supplies.

Sent Elsewhere for Material.

"A few days ago I was doing an important job in Newport Heights and wanted to get some material for use in connection therewith. Crane & Co. could not supply me and I called up several other firms. The others had the desired material, but refused to furnish it unless I joined the Master Plumbers' Association.

"The result was I had to send to another city for the goods I wanted.

"In other States refusal to sell a man merchandise or supplies of any kind would subject the offender to a criminal prosecution. I think such a law should be on the Missouri statute books. But at any rate I am not going to join the Master Plumbers' Association, notwithstanding the wishes of the trust. It may be that I will institute civil action against the companies that refuse to sell to me."

Recently the Coyne Bros. Plumbing Co. filed suit for $250,000 damages in the Circuit Court against the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Co., the Crane company and the L. M. Rumsey Manufacturing Co. The petition alleged that the three firms, by agreement, refused to sell plumbers' supplies to the Coyne firm because it was not a member of the Master Plumbers' Association.

The refusal, according to the plaintiff, resulted in an actual loss to the Coyne company of $5,000.

Trusts Are Outlaws.

The suit is filed in accordance with the provisions of the Missouri anti-trust law, which prohibits the formation of trusts, pools or combinations to control the output, distribution or price of any article of commerce or manufacture. It provides daily fines and forfeitures of charters as penalties and releases the customers of such combinations or pools from paying for articles bought from them.

Circuit Judge Ryan decided in the case of Plumber Joseph E. Walsh against the Cahill-Swift Supply Co. that payment cannot be compelled for goods bought from a trust. Judge Ryan's decision virtually makes the trust an outlaw. Walsh owed the Cahill-Swift company $240.

W. R. Coyne, senior member of the Coyne Bros. Plumbing Co., was until April, 1905, proprietor of one of the largest plumbing houses in St. Louis. At that time the Crane Co. was fighting the monopoly and across the front of their establishment was a huge banner with this inscription: "We are not in the trust—independent dealers."

Coyne was opposed on all sides and so was the Crane Co.

They soon became formidable allies. When others refused to sell supplies to Coyne, he bought of the Crane Co. The efforts of the Crane Co., to bust the trust cost that firm, it is said, more than a million dollars. Coyne declared in his petition that the Crane Co. subsequently joined the trust.

It appears from the statement of Mr. Holly, however, that the Crane Co. is now selling to independent dealers.

FOLK FAVORS REPUBLICAN.

Citizenship Asked by McNatt Given After Election.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 14.—State Senator John R. McNatt has learned something through recent correspondence with Gov. Folk.

Senator McNatt, who lives in Aurora, asked the Governor to restore citizenship to J. K. Lee of Aurora and City Marshal Griffith of Peirce City. He was more vigorous in his efforts to procure favor for Lee, who, he said, was his neighbor and friend. In a letter, June 1, McNatt urged that Lee be restored to citizenship before June 30, "so he can vote for me in the primary." He also said that he did not care so much about Griffith, saying: "He is a Republican, elected Marshal of Peirce City, and of course I don't care if he stays disfranchised."

Though the Governor says his attention was not called to these points of the letters, it is a fact that Griffith, the Republican, received his restoration to citizenship within a few days of the receipt of McNatt's letter, while Lee, the Democrat, was not restored to citizenship until yesterday.

The letters are on file with other papers in the cases in the office of the Secretary of State.

Fair Grounds Park Favored.

The North St. Louis Business Men's Association wants the Fair Grounds for a park. At a meeting Thursday in North St. Louis Turner Hall, the president appointed a committee to request the Real Estate Exchange to fix a valuation of the east 50 acres. When this valuation has been fixed the city will be asked to draft and pass a bill for its purchase. The plans to have the railways build a station near Bremen avenue and the United Railways Co. to extend the Taylor avenue line to North Broadway were indorsed. Eighteen new members were taken in and 10 applications were received.

Asks $5000 for Wife's Death.

Suit has been filed in the Circuit Court by Frank Resch against the Gilsonite Construction Co. for $5000 damages for the death of his wife, who was killed by a rock thrown by a blast of the defendant company. Mrs. Resch was standing on the porch of her home, 8424 North Broadway, at the time of the accident. It occurred Sept. 4.

Ex-Senator Jewett Is 99.

Former United States Senator D. T. Jewett of 2918 Morgan street, celebrated his ninety-ninth birthday Friday. He has been a resident of St. Louis 49 years. He was Senator for a few months in 1849 and was succeeded by Gen. F. P. Blair. He was born in Pittston, Me., Sept. 14, 1807.

HEART STOPS, LIVES.

Plumber Thought Killed by Fumes Regains Life.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—William Cregorious, a plumber, was overcome by gasoline fumes in a vault in the garage of Smith & Mabley, and when taken out his heart had ceased to beat, so far as instruments applied by surgeons at the Roosevelt Hospital could determine.

Yet, three hours later, after incessant work at resuscitation by the doctors, he had almost entirely recovered from the effects of asphyxiation. Hospital doctors say it was the first case of its kind.

WILL IS REJECTED.

Louis Groschke's $100,000 Estate to Be Settled by Law.

The will of Louis Groschke, who dropped dead on a street car a few weeks ago, was presented to the Probate Court Thursday and was rejected by Judge Crews, as it was not perfectly clear what disposition he intended to make of his estate, which is valued at $100,000. The heirs of Mr. Groschke consented to the rejection and are satisfied to have the estate settled by law.

The will bequeathed $10,000 to his wife, $40,000 to his daughter Kate and $1000 to his stepson, Leo Fink. The rest was to go to his four sisters. The will also stated that a trust fund was to be established for the benefit of his wife, daughter and two brothers.

BACKING CAR HITS GIRL.

Clinging to Mother's Hand, She Is Felled.

While hurrying with her mother to get aboard a Broadway car at the southern terminus of the line, 2-year-old Olive Hoffman was struck by the car as it backed around a curve. The little girl is at her home, 201 East Grand avenue, suffering from a blood clot on the brain.

Mrs. Lottie Hoffman, the child's mother, had boarded a car which was about to turn in Thursday afternoon. It was in leaving this car to get on the other, the child clinging to the mother's hand, that the accident occurred. Mrs. Hoffman says she understood the motorman of the first car to say that she would have time to get on the other car.

DECLARES FOR BRYAN.

Negro Organization Asked to Support Nebraskan.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 14.—The United States Colored Suffrage Association and Brotherhood of the Constitution of America met in national convention here yesterday. Six hundred delegates were present. President J. Y. Rodgers implored his people to support Bryan for the Presidency in 1908. The convention indorsed a national election to be held in St. Louis on Nov. 8, 1906.

The First Requisite.

"It strikes me Mrs. Bragley would make a fine mother-in-law."

"Mother-in-law! Why?"

"She's got such a charming daughter."

WRECKERS TO SAVE AUTO.

$20,000 Machine Prize of Sunken Ship's Cargo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Wreckers have recovered nearly $300,000 of the cargo from the hold of the freighter Drumeizer, which went ashore Christmas week, 1904, and sank.

The prize of all the cargo is a $20,000 automobile. It is deep in the hold of the ship and the nearly two years of buffeted of waves has washed the cargo and broken portions of ship over the expensive machine. Capt. Smalling reported today that it was in sight and undoubtedly would be rescued in a few days.

Why the People Have Faith in The Model

THIS is a store of principle—a store of well-established character—a store whose eminence in the business world has been attained through honest, well-directed effort and a consistent adherence to its published utterances. The Model advertises "Money's Worth or Money Back," a phrase devised and put into use, not because of any advertising value it may possess, but because it represents the pivotal idea, the very foundation on which this great business rests. Any purchase proving unsatisfactory, no matter how large or how small, can be returned and money will be refunded cheerfully and without controversy. It is for these reasons that the people have tied their faith to The Model, and are bestowing upon it their confidence and loyal patronage.

Three entire floors—90 feet on Washington Avenue and 150 feet on Seventh Street—are devoted to the exclusive sale of Men's and Boys' high-grade apparel.
